

Police Win Gun Battle In Appleton

Marshfield Man Wounded in Exchange Near Morgan School

Charges of attempted first degree murder, armed robbery, and carrying a concealed weapon were filed today against a 21-year-old Marshfield man wounded in a gun battle with Appleton police Sunday.

However, it may be more than a week before Jeffery C. Nelson is well enough to be arraigned on the three counts.

Nelson is under police guard at St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was taken about 2:20 a.m. Sunday with a bullet wound in the neck. He is in fair condition.

Nelson — who weighs more than 300 pounds — was felled by a police bullet following a five-minute gun battle outside Morgan School. No policemen were injured.

The unemployed Marshfield man exchanged gunfire with eight policemen minutes after he disarmed two patrolmen at gunpoint, police said.

Police gave this account:

At 1:55 a.m. Patrolmen Henry Yunk, 24, a beatwalker, and Patrolman Ronald Tauber, 36, a cruiser driver, met near a beer depot in the 500 block of N. Oneida Street. Yunk had just checked out the building, which was closed. The policemen were conferring when they observed a man walk from behind the beer depot about 2:05 a.m.

Yunk and Tauber stopped the man, who identified himself as Nelson. He said he had been staying with a friend on S. Mason Street, but he added that he intended to return to Marshfield by bus Sunday.

Not Satisfied
The patrolmen, feeling that Nelson could give no satisfactory reason for being behind the beer depot, told him they were going to take him to the detective bureau for further questioning.

Nelson then pulled a gun from under his jacket, pointed it at the two officers, and ordered them not to move.

On Nelson's orders, Yunk and Tauber removed their gun belts and kicked them toward him. Nelson then picked up the weapons and walked south on Oneida Street. (The taking of the policemen's guns brought the armed robbery charge.)

The disarmed patrolmen radioed for help and all available squad cars were dispatched to the scene.

Nelson was first seen running toward Morgan School, a block east of the beer depot.

More Police Arrive

Arrives in Argentina

Rocky's Visit Starts Calmly

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — A massive security dragnet sharply curbed political disturbances in this country today as Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller met with national leaders in his quest for a new U.S. approach to Latin America's problems.

Police in the interior city of Tucuman used tear gas to disperse a crowd of young rioters who smashed into a large store and caused damage estimated at $65,000.

This was the only significant incident in the first 12 hours of Rockefeller's 36-hour visit to this politically restless country.

The New York governor met with intellectual and cultural leaders Sunday night and his advisers conferred this morning with educational, agricultural and business representatives.

The governor was to meet later in the day with President Juan Carlos Onganía, the general who took control here three years ago in a coup.

Orbiting Monkey Begins Mission

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bonny, the mild mannered "astro-monk" who finds himself 200 miles above the earth today, is reported doing well, munching food pellets, sipping water and whipping through "task cycles" by electric shocks.

The Thailand pigtail monkey, wired so as to tell just about everything of weightlessness in space, was launched from Cape Kennedy Saturday night in a Delta rocket.

Space agency spokesmen say Bonny will stay in orbit for 30 days.

Pentagon Faces Probe By Presidential Panel

Request by Laird Leads To Review

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced today the formation of a "blue-ribbon panel" to study the organization of the Department of Defense, its research and development programs and procurement practices as requested by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird.

Gilbert W. Fitzhugh, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., was named to head the study.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler in announcing the plans said Laird "has said he expects this panel to conduct the most comprehensive review of the Department of Defense since Hoover Commission studies in 1947 and 1953."

The White House had no further information regarding the makeup of the panel or any additional details on its review. But it was announced that Laird and Fitzhugh would appear at a Pentagon briefing late in the day.

The naming of a commission to study the operation and organization of the Pentagon had been suggested by Laird around the time he was named secretary by President Nixon.

The review comes at a time when there is growing criticism over the high cost of weapons systems.

It also coincides with an apparent climb in the military's influence in administration decision-making. Laird has been trying to loosen the intensive Pentagon centralization imposed during the McNamara years.

However, officials say, Laird has no intention of letting his authority slip or allowing the military to run unrestricted.

"Laird is not a man to give up power," said an associate who has worked closely with the Nixon administration's defense chief.

He and Dave Packard (Laird's deputy secretary) have laid out firm guidelines.

And, a top official said, "Anybody who gets the idea that we're going back to the old 'wild west' days of service rivalries is all wrong."

Services Fought

By "wild west" days this official meant the years before Robert S. McNamara became Defense Secretary in 1961 when the services fought uninhibitedly over budget shares, weapons

3 Children Helpless as Parents Die

HUTISFORD (AP) — Three children struggled in vain Sunday to save their parents as a boat the Saukville family was using on an outing drifted out of reach of the couple.

Harland Dybedahl, 37, who had fallen into Lake Winnebago when he stood up in the boat, and his 32-year-old wife, Mary, drowned before the eyes of their young-sters.

Dodge County authorities said Mrs. Dybedahl leaped into the water to assist her husband after the boat began drifting.

As wind pushed the boat beyond the couple's reach, the three youngsters in the boat, aged 5, 7 and 11, began throwing life preservers to their parents. None fell close enough.

The family had been camping on Radloff Island. Other campers heard the cries of the children, and went to the assistance of the survivors.

Pressure Eases on Ben Het

SAIGON (AP)—Seven battalions of fresh South Vietnamese troops launched a new drive around Ben Het during the weekend, government headquarters announced today. It followed a 20-day sweep in which government soldiers claimed killing 254 North Vietnamese.

The first operation was launched June 8 and ended Saturday. Spokesmen said it was centered 6 miles south of the Special Forces camp in the Central Highlands and they reported 21 South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 107 wounded.

Government headquarters said about 25 per cent of the enemy dead were killed by massive American air and artillery strikes.

Spokesmen said the battalions participating in the new drive—named "Will Win"—were flown in by helicopter from other bases in the Central Highlands to replace battle-weary troops.

So far they have reported no significant contact with the enemy, but North Vietnamese gunners hit one of their night camps with 50 rockets and mortar shells Sunday night.

Field reports said one South Vietnamese soldier was killed and one was wounded. They indicated the North Vietnamese troops got within 100 yards of the camp but launched no ground assault and were driven off by U.S. planes and artillery.

Meanwhile, North Vietnamese gunners eased pressure on Ben Het itself, giving the surrounded camp its calmest weekend since May 1.

U.S. officers at Ben Het estimated that 1,000-3,000 North Vietnamese troops around the camp had pulled back, apparently hurt by the massive U.S. bombing.

Officers said the enemy force estimated at two regiments apparently had pulled out, leaving only small units behind to harass the camp.

Associated Press photographer Oliver Noonan reported from Ben Het that only four mortar rounds landed in the camp today. Enemy gunners disclosed American casualty figures, but by unofficial count about 60 Americans have been killed and another 250 wounded in the campaign.

South Vietnamese forces claim to have killed more than 1,800 North Vietnamese soldiers with the help of American bombers and artillery around Ben Het since May 1. Government casualties in that period were reported as 350 men dead and 1,600 wounded.

The U.S. Command views the Ben Het-Dak To campaign as a test of the South Vietnamese army against the North Vietnamese. No regular American infantry forces are involved in the campaign, but the Americans have offered artillery, engineer and air support.

U.S. artillerymen and a dozen Special Forces advisers are based inside Ben Het along with 700 South Vietnamese civilian irregulars. American advisers also are working with South Vietnamese troops sweeping between Ben Het and Dak To, 10 miles to the east.

The U.S. Command will not disclose American casualty figures, but by unofficial count about 60 Americans have been killed and another 250 wounded in the campaign.

Air Force tactical fighters-bombers flew 81 sorties — one flight by one plane—Sunday in support of the Ben Het camp. Spokesmen said it was a record for the past two months.

Spokesmen said the shelling of Ben Het itself dropped off sharply over the weekend. Twenty-five mortar and recoilless rifle shells hit the Special Forces camp Sunday, one of the lightest attacks since it came under daily bombardment early in May.

Two South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and two were wounded.

U.S. B52 bombers kept up around-the-clock strikes on the outskirts of the camp, 280 miles northeast of Saigon. Twelve Stratofortresses dropped 360 tons of explosives on North Vietnamese base camps and bunkers three miles east and three miles southwest of Ben Het.

Only light and scattered action was reported elsewhere in South Vietnam, and the U.S. Command said seven rocket and mortar attacks hit allied bases overnight.

In one of the attacks, Viet Cong gunners fired two 100-pound rockets at the headquarters of the South Vietnamese Airborne Division three miles northwest of Saigon. The rounds landed in a populated area, killing one Vietnamese civilian and wounding nine others, spokesmen said.

They (the POWs) have been well treated. But we warn the U.S., and its puppets, that their murder of our patriotic compatriots in their jails will bring certain and inescapable revenge and punishment.

Usefulness of Census Endangered by Protests

BY SYLVIA PORTER

A major campaign is now underway to curb the 1970 Census to a degree which would strip this vital economic tool of much of its validity. In fact, if legislation now before congress becomes law, it would drastically cut the usefulness of census data to tens of thousands of corporations, thousands of State and local planning groups, hundreds of Federal and private agencies, etc.

Some of the anti-census propaganda is really frightening, particularly to all of us who are sensitive to the danger of "Big Brother" in our land. Therefore, to help put the record straight, I've picked out the five questions stirring the greatest fears—and obtained from Dr. Conrad Tauber, the Census Bureau's top demographer, the reasons most families, and thus a shared bathroom suggests the degree of our substandard housing, overcrowding.

(1) Is your bathroom shared? Many uninformed Americans are under the utterly wrong impression that they'll have to

Value of Home

(2) What is the market value of your home? This question has been asked since 1930 and is one of the best statistical indicators of the quality of housing and living standards in our land. Without reliable and detailed data on housing quality, our gigantic home-building and home-financing industries could not plan with accuracy and our mammoth national housing programs could not possibly work.

(3) What is your telephone number? This hotly criticized question is also the most misunderstood. The presence of a telephone in a home is another important gauge of living standards and the census-takers are asking the number so they can get back in touch if they need to complete missing data. Telephone numbers will not be put into census computers — and actually, if Big Brother wanted our telephone numbers, all "it" would have to do is check the phone books.

(4) How many children have you ever had?

Asked Since 1890 This question, to be asked of one in five households, could be an embarrassment to the woman who has had an illegitimate child or put a baby up for adoption. (However, she could lie, I would think, without any concern about punishment.) The question has been asked since 1890 without raising complaints and is considered a critically important indicator of view of the fact that the Census future U.S. population growth. Bureau must, by law, keep To illustrate, if the average every single name strictly confidential? number of children "ever born" to the average family is 2.5, it could mean that by the year 2,000, we will number tens of millions of Americans fewer ones than if the average number were, say, 3.3. The significance to school systems, city planners, much leisure time do Americans have; how many of us are participating in adult education

(5) What is the family's 1969 income — from wages and courses; what are our total salary; from business or financial assets. If I had this profession; from a farm; from sort of information, I could turn social security or railroad retirement; from welfare pay—"trend" columns — and not ments and (in a lump) from "all other sources"?

This question will provide a vital measurement of the links between poverty and dependence, education and income, occupation and income, race and income.

Would you object to answering these questions? Do you

Ants in Picnic Lunch—A Philosopher Is Born

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Philosophers are made, not born. Philosophy flowers on calamities, woes, disasters, mishaps and bereavements. It remains stunted in the presence of endless good fortune, just as a child fails to develop much character if you do everything for it and let it run around all day with a lollipop stuck in its mouth. Do you aspire to be a philosopher? Fortunately, there are enough troubles in the world—enough vinegar flavor and bittersweet moments in life—to let everybody satisfy this ambition. Here are a few things that happen which tend to turn any man into a philosopher—or a misanthropic hermit. Baldness.

Falling arches. Losing the first red-haired girl in your life to the tallest guy in your kindergarten class. Being told by older kids that Santa Claus is only your Dad. Finding ants in a picnic lunch. Losing your first tooth. Losing your last tooth. Learning you have mumps the day before you graduate from grammar school. Discovering your bicycle has been stolen the morning after you got it for Christmas. Eating spinach because it's supposed to be good for you. Giving up eating something you like because the doctor tells you it's bad for you. Losing the second red-haired girl of your life to the tallest guy in your high school freshman class. Land on Your Head. Falling off the exercise bars in a schoolyard and landing on your head. Falling on your face at a cocktail party while showing other guests how easy it is to vault over a sofa. Getting a ticket for parking too close to a fire hydrant. Holding ticket numbered 1,312 in a lottery for a new car won by a guy you talked into buying ticket numbered 1,313. Opening your paycheck week after week and finding it contains the same old insulting sum. Listening to the reading of the last will and testament of your favorite old aunt, and receiving the glad news she has left you only her rocking chair and her pet cat. Three-Time Loser. Losing the third red-haired girl of your life to the tallest guy on your college basketball team. Buying a new house in which three days later you come upon a nest of termites. Becoming a railroad commuter and figuring you'll have to live with train delays for the next 35 years. Losing the fourth red-haired girl of your life to the tallest junior executive in your firm. Waking up some day to the fact that your stomach is now at least an inch bigger around than your chest. Acquiring an ulcer, a wife and

Confrontations With Police Is Next Goal of SDS

MIAMI (AP) — Tens of thousands of American students will flock to factories this summer to organize confrontations with police, an official of the Student for a Democratic Society has told a Cuban interviewer. Jess Johns, identified by Havana Radio as national secretary for SDS, said the campaign would begin in September. According to the Miami-monitored broadcast, Johns said that SDS's objectives were the unconditional withdrawal of police and other "repressive forces from Negro communities and U.S. universities."

Administration Pays Debt for Southern Vote

HEW Secretary Robert Finch Giving Up Fight to Demand School Desegregation

BY ROWLAND EVANS secretary of Health, Welfare and Education (HEW) on school desegregation guidelines comes the surrender of Robert Finch, after months of vicious backstage struggling and pressure from the White House and southern Republicans.

Finch had been standing almost alone against the rest of the administration, including at least one HEW official—conservative Robert Mardian, the department's general counsel. Now Mardian's influence is on the rise.

The effect of Finch's retreat—over passionate opposition from his own departments civil rights officials—will be repeal of HEW's power to impose deadlines on school desegregation, mainly in southern school districts.

Thus, when the new guidelines take effect, southern school districts will be able to stall desegregation beyond the present deadlines of September 1969 in some cases and September 1970 in others without losing federal school funds.

Extend Deadlines
This fund cut-off authority is the federal government's ultimate weapon to enforce desegregation. Without it, some southern school districts will continue separate public schools for black and white well beyond the present deadlines and perhaps indefinitely.

That is only the immediate effect of the guidelines change. More difficult is its effect on southern school districts that have agreed in the past or are in process of agreeing to accept the HEW guidelines and desegregate.

A dramatic case is a telephone call to the HEW's civil rights division on June 24 from the school board in Austin, Tex. Austin has dragged its heels on desegregation for years. But last month, under pressure from HEW, the entire school board sat in all-day session with HEW officials here to devise a desegregation plan. Also present were staff aides of Republican Sen. John Tower of Texas and Rep. Jackie Pickle, Austin's Democratic Congressman.

Evans

On returning to Austin, the school board wrestled for three weeks with a new plan and finally adopted one that even included some pupil busing to assure racial balance in primary and secondary schools.

Board Stands Pat
That June 24 call, however, notified HEW that the school board had heard from Tower that a "major change" in the guidelines was impending. Therefore, the board would stand pat until the change was announced and then "reappraise" its plans. That shattered the Austin model which HEW officials had hoped would pave the way for a desegregation breakthrough in Texas, starting with San Antonio and Lubbock. Furthermore, when the new guidelines are announced, HEW will either agree to backsliding in desegregation plans already accepted in scores of school districts or risk a revolution. These districts, naturally, will refuse to be penalized by their agreement to desegregate before the guidelines were changed.

Pressures too Strong
At this writing, however, there is little chance of stopping the new guidelines. The pressures are too strong from southern Republicans, from Atty. Gen. John Mitchell's Justice Department (which strongly favors the relaxation), and from the Republican National Committee (where they have the blessing of the chairman, Rep. Rogers Morton of Maryland).

The pressures have been intense. One Republican, Rep. Fletcher Thompson of Atlanta, Ga., flatly warned the White House that some southern Republicans could not support President Nixon's tax bill unless HEW slowed down desegregation. In Thompson's own district, a new school was recently ordered closed on grounds that it was specifically located in a Negro neighborhood to avoid sending Negro students to white schools.

Perhaps more important, the Finch retreat fits the basic southern political strategy that elected Mr. Nixon. Ever since he took office, the South has been demanding fulfillment of campaign pledges to ease desegregation. Only Finch and HEW's civil rights division stood in the way. Now Finch, (Copyright, 1969)

It's a Gold Rush of A Different Color

NOME, Alaska (AP) — There is a gold fever sweeping the younger generation of this former gold rush town where children are mining the streets for nickels, dimes, quarters and an occasional half-dollar.

Object of their efforts is the ground beneath the wooden boards of a walkway along Front Street.

The board sidewalks were torn up last week to make way for a concrete walk. It didn't take the youngsters long to discover the bonanza—thousands of coins that had been lost under the board walk over the years.

Astronaut Makes Visit To Illinois Home Town

BELLWOOD, Ill. (AP) — Astronaut Eugene Cernan, who went from Bellwood to the moon, came back to Bellwood Sunday and 20,000 people lined up to welcome him home.

With Cernan was fellow astronaut Thomas P. Stafford, who joined him on the Apollo 10 flight that brought both men within five miles of the moon last month.

The astronauts rode through Bellwood in a motorcade, and appeared at an afternoon rally at Proviso East High School, from which Cernan graduated in 1952. His mother, Rose, still lives in Bellwood.

Actually, the decision to change was made several weeks ago and was to be announced before Finch left on his recent vacation. But turmoil inside HEW delayed that announcement, and civil rights officials there are still fighting.

Lawyers Request OEO Funds to Aid Migrants Project

A group of Wisconsin lawyers, known as the Lawyers Committee to Aid Migrant Farm and Agricultural Workers, has made a formal request for a $10,000 grant to the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) to aid in the legal defense of Wisconsin's migrant worker population.

About three years ago, 10 Milwaukee lawyers, headed by Philip Atkins, each volunteered a weekend of their time to go to the legal defense of the migrant workers in Central Wisconsin.

More lawyers joined the volunteers last summer, and this year, Atkins said, "we were approached by representatives of OEO who said money might be available" to aid their project.

Programs

Accordingly, the Committee has submitted a request for the funds for administrative use in coordinating the program and providing year-to-year continuity. The grant hasn't come through yet, Atkins said, but he felt there was a "90 per cent chance of getting it."

The group was first organized, very informally, when the problem of Wisconsin migrants was brought to their attention by a Milwaukee priest familiar with the situation. From the original group of 10, the Committee has expanded to include some 30 lawyers from the Milwaukee, Iowa County, Green Bay, and Kaukauna areas, Atkins said.

The problems the Committee means to specifically attack include higher migrant income, adequate housing facilities, and "aiding migrants in getting the power they require to be equal with other groups in society," Atkins said.

Major Difficulty

The major difficulty encountered by the Committee according to Atkins, is the simple fact that the people involved are migrants; they move from place to place, and are not always around when a case actually comes to court.

It is hoped that some funds from the expected OEO grant can be used to bring claimants back for court appearances, Atkins said.

A wide range of legal services are provided in Waushara, Portage, Door, Brown, Outagamie and Dodge counties to the economically disadvantaged. According to the request, "persons who are not migrants or agricultural workers will not ordinarily be served."

The accomplishments of the group include the only workmen's compensation case ever filed on behalf of a migrant worker in Wisconsin, and the first lawsuit in the history of the state on behalf of all migrants as a class.

Piece Rate

This major case stemmed from an attack on the "piece rate" minimum wage rules applied to migrant pickle pickers. The Committee challenged the reasonableness of the rates, claiming the piece rates did not guarantee each worker a minimum wage.

The Dane County Circuit Court ruled the state could not substitute piece rates for minimum wage rates, and required Mrs. John J. Hewett, 604 records of "women and minors" Park, Combined Locks, store to insure that hours and wages manager, told Appleton police could be verified and computed the coat apparently was taken This court decision has subsequently been used in California 12.15 p.m. Saturday

It is frightfully expensive, and scarce, and I have seen the figure $3,000 given as the cost — for the drug alone — for one patient for a year.

But it does bring results, although not always striking results. Brookhaven rated benefits as "modest" in 5 patients, "moderate" in 6, "marked" in 13, and "dramatic" in 10 — an executive, a carpenter, and an attorney were able to go back to work. I have been told of a patient in a Midwest center who, not able to walk unaided, began going for walks after a few treatments.

Of course, patients want it! But right now the only way to get it depends on whether your physician knows of an experimental unit in the vicinity which is able to accept another patient.

Why the delay in making it generally available? Scarcity is one reason, but not the most important. L-dopa can have side effects, nausea, vomiting, loss of appetite, constipation, blood pressure changes. I am told that adjusting individual dosage corrects this, and it takes time to learn how to adjust dosage.

There are other questions: How long is the medication effective? What effect may long use have? And so on. researchers that they have extracted an almost identical drug from animal fodder called the "horse bean," and that it has been tested with about 40 patients (and most, but not all of them, helped).

The hope is that this will provide a much less costly source of the drug — but study of it has been going on for only a matter of months. It takes more time than that to be safe and sure.

I am most interested in these reports: I will go so far as to say that I am hopeful, but I have as yet no way of estimating how long it will take, nor what the final outcome will be.

done on top, cover and cook until set. Loosen edges and fold omelet. Garnish with tomato and onion slices. Recipe serves four to six persons.

SAUCY FRUIT MEDLEY
2 cups fresh Bing cherries, pitted, quartered
2/3 cup fresh orange juice

2 cinnamon sticks, each 3 inches long
3 whole cloves
1 1/2 tablespoons grated orange rind
1 1/2 teaspoons cornstarch

Muenster cheese, room temperature
Chilled fresh pears, sliced
Chilled fresh peaches or nectarines, sliced
Cookie Creme Sandwiches
To make cherry sauce:

Combine first four ingredients in saucepan. Simmer gently over low heat about 10 minutes. Press through a sieve, discarding cinnamon sticks and cloves.

Return mixture to saucepan along with orange rind and cornstarch. Blend; bring to a boil, stirring constantly until thickened and smooth. Cool.

Make cheese balls with melon ball cutter; mix with sliced fruit. Spoon into serving dishes and top with cherry sauce. Serve with cookie Creme Sandwiches. Recipe makes about one cup sauce.

CORN AND FRANK CHOWDER

2 tablespoons butter
3 frankfurters, thinly sliced

1 can (1-lb.) whole kernel corn
2 cups milk
2 cups water

1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon black pepper

1 cup mashed potato flakes
Melt butter in large saucepan; add frankfurters and brown slightly. Stir in remaining ingredients except potato flakes.

Heat to boiling; add potato flakes and stir to blend. Reduce heat and simmer five minutes, stirring occasionally. If chowder is too thin, add more potato flakes; if too thick, add more milk or water. Recipe makes six servings.

FISH BISQUE

Omit corn and frankfurters. Cook one pound fresh fish fillets, cut into chunks, in butter for a few minutes (or use one pound fresh shrimp, shelled and deveined). Add two chicken bouillon cubes before bringing liquid to a boil. Just before serving add quarter-to-half-cup dry white wine, if desired. Recipe makes six servings.

GOLDEN GRILLED CHICKEN

1/4 cup prepared yellow mustard
1/4 cup apricot preserves
1/4 cup salad oil
2 chickens, 2 1/2 to 3 lbs. each, cut in quarters

Combine mustard, preserves and oil. Grill chicken over medium coals, brushing with sauce and turning frequently until cooked, about 1 hour. 6 to 8 servings.

SUMMERTIME SALAD

1/2 cup salad oil
3 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
1/4 teaspoon coarse ground black pepper

Spinach
Cauliflower
Cherry tomatoes

Combine oil, vinegar, Worcestershire sauce, sugar, garlic salt and pepper; shake vigorously to blend. Toss spinach leaves with dressing. Garnish with cherry tomatoes and cauliflower, broken into "flowerets" or thinly sliced. Recipe makes three-fourths cup dressing.

Lengthen PJs

Children's pajamas with feet are easily lengthened when they become too short. Cut off the feet section above the elastic part of the ankle and insert a contrasting piece of material that has been shrunk. Then sew the feet part on again.

Fresh Citrus Doubles as Gay Holiday Snack, Table Decor

Fun to fix, fun to eat, fresh citrus can be a creative summertime experience for youngsters, and a visual delight of admiring parents and guests.

Children love to make their own party decorations. Be fast with your camera because young guests might eat up the fresh decorations be-

Draw face on lemon as desired with ink marker or grease pencil. Position lemon, stem end up, on base. Roll 3 x 7 inch blue paper "hat" slightly wider at top; secure with tape or staples.

Using red paper, cut a fan-shaped plume ending in a small circle; to divide into feathers, cut from outer edge to 1/4 inch from circle.

Cut out a half-moon shape black visor the width of the hat and tape to edge of hat. Position hat on lemon and secure with wooden picks to prevent slippage.

ORANGITA, THE ELEPHANT
Choose a large, firm orange for each elephant. Oranges should be at room temperature or placed in hot water for 5 minutes before cutting. To make the big "ears," start about 2 inches from blossom end of orange and outline lobe-shaped ears with pencil or knife. Cut just through peel to form ears. Carefully loosen and peel ears toward face and fasten in an erect position with piece of wooden pick.

Outline wide "V"-shape lines starting from ears to extend into long 1/4 inch wide "trunk". Cut through peel and secure with piece of wooden pick. Cut a narrow "tail".

Decorate, using cloves for "eyes", daisies or gum drops for "feet."

fore you have time to photograph the table!

With summer parties and Fourth of July fast approaching, here are four citrus ideas to start you off:

JULY 4 CANNON

Place carrot or banana, coated with lemon juice to prevent discoloration, on a wagon made of thick unpeeled orange cartwheels. Secure cartwheels with wooden picks for "wheels." A crisp rye wafer or long graham cracker placed on the picks provides bottom for the "cannon". Position with pick a half maraschino cherry at the end of cannon.

JULY 4 DRUM

Sandwich a thick, firmly packed layer of cottage cheese between two peeled orange cartwheels and decorate side with thin strips of green pepper. Drums are celery sticks, tipped with purple grapes or small stuffed olives. Chill until ready to serve.

TOY SOLDIER

For base, roll and staple or tape a 6 x 7-inch tube (diameter about 2 inches) out of navy blue construction paper. Decorate tube with red paper diagonal stripe, white paper small buttons, gold paperettes, etc.

Woman Learns She's a Wealthy Widow

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband passed away three months ago at the age of 67. We were married 37 years and I must confess, they were not happy years. We were always poor. Our three children wore hand-me-downs. It was nothing for me to walk three miles to save three cents on a can of soup or a nickel on a can of beans. We never owned a car. The only trips we ever made were to funerals. Whenever I think of my husband I picture him turning off lights or turning down the heat "to save."

Now all of a sudden I'm a rich widow. Three days before my husband died he told me to look in his tool box for some papers. I was shocked to find a life insurance policy, payable to me for $78,000. A week later I found a bank book taped under a kitchen chair and discovered he had $11,000 in a savings account. That very day I began to look in all kinds of crazy places. I found stock securities in a leather pouch nailed to a beam in the attic. I found another savings book under a rug in our bedroom. (He had started it in 1949 and saved $8,200.)

Instead of being happy I am becoming hateful and bitter. I feel that his whole life was a lie. Why did he make us live like paupers when we could have had a decent home, college for our children and vacations?

Please answer this question and help me enjoy what years I have left. — Rags to Riches Widow

Dear Friend: Your husband was mentally ill. In a strange way he enjoyed saving money in secret for more than most people enjoy spending it. Of course it was unfair to you and the children — a cruel game to put it gently. But the past is over and done with so forgive him, dear, and go on from there. I sincerely hope that you and your children will enjoy the comforts so long denied you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Kenneth and I were married a year ago this month. His ex-wife remarried the same week.

I am writing about their children, 3 and 7. Kenneth's ex-wife has custody. She has left the children alone on numerous occasions. Last week, Kenneth went over there and found the kids alone again. It was 7:30 p.m. When he asked, "Where's Mommy?" the boy replied, "She went to get Tom (her new husband). He's drunk again. (How's that for a seven-year-old?)"

I hate to see these two lovely children raised in such a crummy environment. My husband is furious. We have no money for lawyers and court action. Who can we turn to? — Color Us Blue

Dear Blue: You can turn to Legal Aid. Look in the phone book. And if you don't find it listed, you can turn to the Juvenile authorities the next time your husband finds the kids alone. If your letter is an accurate report it shouldn't be difficult to obtain custody of the children.

Give in or lose him... when a guy gives you this line, look out! For tips on how to handle the super sex salesman, check Ann Landers. Read her booklet, "Necking and Petting — What Are the Limits?" Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long-stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. (Copyright, 1969)

Sheinwold Defender Should Have Won

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

"Wickedness walks the streets, Watson," said Sherlock Holmes one night at the Baker Street Bridge Club. "We are not safe from it, even here," the great detective continued. And he tugged the good doctor away from the game they had been kibitzing. Watson couldn't see what had upset his friend, but of course you will.

East took the first trick with the ace of hearts and wondered whether to return the king of diamonds or the king of clubs. After tossing a mental coin he hit upon the king of diamonds, forcing out dummy's ace. Declarer drew trumps with the ace, king and queen and then led a low trump to reach his hand with the eight of spades. South cashed the king and queen of hearts, discarding two diamonds from dummy and then gave up two club tricks. He lost only one heart and two clubs, making his game contract. Of course you see why Holmes was so upset by wickedness in his favorite bridge club. Make sure you have spotted the bridge crime that took place in this hand — and then read on.

Several Crimes

Sherlock Holmes saw several crimes in one hand. East probably should have bid four hearts at his second turn. He could probably make a game if his partner had nothing but two or three hearts. In any case, it was better to lose 200 points at four hearts doubled than to let the opponents score a game.

South should have bid no-trump instead of spades. He would have made three no-trump against the normal heart opening lead. He should not have made four spades.

East should have defeated four spades by refusing the first trick. West's lead was obviously from a singleton or doubleton, which meant that South had at least K-Q-x of hearts. If East refused the first trick he would later get two diamonds and two clubs. It pays to give up one trick if you get two tricks in exchange for it.

Rain Disperses Crowd Gathered At Homecoming

JANESVILLE (AP) — State highway patrolmen salvaged Miss Wisconsin's homecoming Sunday.

Thousands of persons had lined Janesville streets in balmy weather for a welcoming parade for Cindi Anne Morgan, 18. They dispersed in disappointment when told the parade was being called off because the new Miss Wisconsin's airplane was grounded in Merrill by bad weather.

A state patrol escort, however, got Cindi home in time for a program, although only about 500 were still on hand.

Local officials made speeches. The Spottlers, a Craig High School vocal group of which she had been a member until elected Miss Wisconsin, sang two songs with Cindi joining the group for one of the numbers.

Cindi was chosen Miss Wisconsin at the annual pageant in Oshkosh June 21. She had been in Merrill for a sports water show when rain cancelled her airplane trip home.

She returned to Oshkosh Sunday night to resume rehearsals for the Miss America competition in Atlantic City, N.J., in September.

Choco-Cherry-Honey Pie Top Recipe

A delicious, beautifully decorated pie full of chocolate wafer crumbs, cherries, honey, wheat germ and cream cheese won first place and the right to represent Outagamie County in the district cook-off for Mrs. Leola Garriott, Hortonville.

Her dairy dessert pie in this year's June Dairy recipe contest was one of six outstanding pies judged Friday afternoon at the county finals.

Actually, each of the cooks were county winners, their recipes having been selected for the finals from a field of about 40 contestants. It was difficult for the judges to choose the top recipe because of the excellence of all six pies. The appearance of the pie as a whole and by the piece was considered; they were tasted for flavor and tested for texture, ease of preparation, originality and checked for use of dairy products.

Finally, the winners of the 1963 contest sponsored by Outagamie County Farm Bureau Women, came out with Mrs. Garriott first, Mrs. Norman Marks, in second place, and Miss Susan Much, 18-year-old college student from route 1, Fremont, third. Mrs. Marks entered a Caramel Pecan Pie with a superb nut crust and Susan's pie was a frozen dessert pie combining ice cream with pumpkin and served with a caramel sauce.

The other contestants, whose recipes will be run later, were Mrs. Victor Schmitt, Hortonville, with Dairy Fruit Pie Supreme; Mrs. Glenn Ocock, Appleton, Pumpkin Cottage Cheese Pie, and former county winner Mrs. Joseph Versteegen, Little Chute, with a Dairy Melon Pie.

The recipes of the three prizewinners are as follows:

CHOCO-CHERRY-HONEY

2/3 cup vanilla wafer crumbs
2/3 cup chocolate wafer crumbs

1/4 cup sugar
1 tablespoon wheat germ
1/2 cup melted butter

2 tablespoons strained honey
3 ounces Philadelphia cream cheese

15 ounces canned condensed, sweetened milk
1/3 cup lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon almond extract

1 can (1-pound can) unsweetened pie cherries, drained

Whipping cream
Whole maraschino cherries with stems

To make the crust: Mix together crumbs, sugar and wheat germ. Add melted butter and mix well. Reserve two

Mrs. Alois Leisgang, Seymour, standing in the picture at the right, listens in as the three judges discuss their check points on the six recipes in the finals of the Outagamie County June Dairy Month contest Friday in the Wisconsin Michigan Power Company's Service Center. Mrs. Leisgang was general chairman of the contest sponsored by Outagamie County Farm Bureau Women. Judges were, from the left, Mrs. Myrtle Webb, home economist and director of dormitories at Lawrence University; Mrs. Lillian Mackesy, food editor of The Post-Crescent; and Don Jones, gourmet cook and director of Attic Theatre. (Post-Crescent Photos) tablespoons of mixture for garnish, if desired.

Put crumbs into 9-inch pie plate; press into place. Bake in preheated, 350-degree oven for 10 minutes. Remove from oven and cool.

To make the filling: Beat honey in small bowl until white and creamy. Gradually add cream cheese, which should be at room temperature before using. Beat until smooth. Stir in sweetened condensed milk, lemon juice and almond extract; mix together until well blended. Add the drained cherries; mix thoroughly. Place mixture in pie shell, chill several hours or least an hour.

Whip cream, then use cream for garnish along with crumbs and maraschino cherries with stems. Recipe makes six servings.

CARAMEL PECAN PIE WITH BUTTER CRUNCH CRUST

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1/2 pound vanilla caramels
1/4 cup milk
Dash salt

1 cup cream, whipped
1 teaspoon vanilla
Butter Crunch Crust
Whole pecans

Soften gelatin in cold water. Melt caramels in milk over hot water. Add softened gelatin, salt, stirring to dissolve gelatin. Chill mixture until slightly set. Save some of whipped cream for topping. Fold rest whipped cream and vanilla into mixture. Pour into crust; chill several hours or overnight.

BUTTER CRUNCH CRUST

1/2 cup butter
1/4 cup brown sugar
1 cup sifted flour
1/2 cup chopped pecans

Heat oven to 400 degrees. Mix all ingredients well, then spread in flat pan. Bake 15 minutes until slightly browned. Take from oven and stir with spoon.

Four into pie pan; press against bottom and sides. When ready to serve, put dollop of whipped cream on each piece and top with pecan. Recipe makes 8 to 10 servings.

BUTTERSCOTCH FROZEN PUMPKIN PIE

1 cup sifted flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons lard
3 tablespoons milk

1 cup mashed pumpkin
1/4 cups sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

1 cup whipping cream, whipped
1 pint vanilla ice cream, softened

1 1/2 cups brown sugar
1/2 cup white corn syrup
1/4 cup butter
1/2 cup cream
1 teaspoon vanilla

To make crust: Mix flour and salt in large bowl. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles small peas. Sprinkle milk over mixture one tablespoon at a time, mixing lightly with fork after each addition. Press dough firmly into ball; roll eighth-inch thick about an inch larger than diameter of pie pan; roll on lightly floured board. Place dough in pan; flute edge; prick bottom and sides with fork. Bake in preheated, 425-degree oven 12 to 15 minutes. Chill crust before filling.

To make filling: Mix together pumpkin, sugar, salt and spices. Fold into whipped cream. Spread bottom of chilled, baked crust with ice cream. Pour pumpkin-cream mixture over ice cream. Freeze for at least two hours. Serve with sauce. Recipe makes about six or seven servings.

To make sauce: Mix together in saucepan the brown sugar, syrup and butter. Bring to boil over low heat; remove from heat and stir in cream and vanilla. Recipe makes one cup sauce.

Wild Rose Church to Have Antique Show

WILD ROSE — Members of Methodist Church will sponsor their fifth antique show and sales from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. July 11 and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. July 12 at the church.

Stored Frozen Food No Better Than Its Wrapper, Container

BY ROSEMARY STARE

Marketing Specialist, University of Wisconsin

Take advantage of specials on meats and store what you don't need immediately in the freezer.

Remember, however, frozen food can be no better than the wrapping or container used for its protection. Freezer air is dry and draws out moisture.

There are many varieties of containers and wrapping on the market and some are foil will protect and cover uneven objects like roasted bird. Plastic sheets may also be used — alone or with another wrapping paper to prevent breakage or puncturing.

Don't use household wax paper. It isn't moisture-vapor proof.

Wrap Methods When wrapping food to be frozen, wrap snugly in the middle. Then working from the center to the ends, press out all the air. Fold the ends and fasten tightly. When using foil, press gently to prevent breakage.

Containers may be made of molded plastic, rigid or pliable aluminum or tempered glass. Cylinders of special pressed fiber lined with plastic or foil also afford adequate protection to sauces, soups and ice cream.

Quart and pint sizes are excellent for home use. Avoid using large containers as they may be too big for quick and safe freezing.

Bags Useful Heavy plastic or freezer bags may also be used.

To remove air from them, press the bag from the bottom up until all the air is removed. Or lower the filled container into a kettle of water until the water comes to the level of the food. To close, twist the top tightly, double back, and secure with a rubber band, string or special fastener.

If the bag is free from odor, it can be thoroughly washed, dried and re-used. It's wise to check bags for leaks by filling with water before re-using them.

Waxed milk and cheese cartons aren't suitable for freezing.

Prince Charles Says He'll Marry Somebody Special

By FRED COLEMAN

LONDON (AP) — Will Prince Charles marry a commoner? Britain's future king says he hasn't made up his mind but admits to "becoming a bit more independent."

In his first television interview Thursday night, Britain's most eligible bachelor refused to limit his prospects to a princess from another royal family. He said: "I often feel I would like to marry somebody English. Or perhaps Welsh. Well British anyway."

Although Charles has had no lasting romantic attachments that anyone knows of, he set off a national guessing game over who his "somebody special" might be. There were no hints in the interview.

The 20-year-old son of Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip is preparing for investiture as Prince of Wales Tuesday. The television interview was recorded two weeks ago and broadcast by Britain's two networks.

"In my position you are going to marry somebody who perhaps one day is going to become queen," he said. "You have got to choose somebody very carefully. I think, who could fulfill the role in Europe the right age for this particular role and it has to be somebody pretty special."

"The one advantage about marrying a princess, for instance or somebody from a royal family, is that they do know what happens. The only trouble is that I often feel I would like perhaps Welsh. Well British anyway."

Charles' remarks caused a mild sensation in six national newspapers, which appeared with almost the same headline. "The Girl That I Marry—By Prince Charles" was one.

In the Daily Express, William Hickey listed seven candidates and said Charles preferred brunettes to blondes. They are:

Emma Soames, 18, granddaughter of Sir Winston Churchill; Sibella Dorman, 20, daughter of the governor-general of Malta; Fiona Mac Kessack, 21, drama student; Rosaleen Bagge, 21, whom Charles met at a dance and later corresponded with from Australia; Angela Nevill, 21, daughter of a friend of the queen, Lady Rupert Nevill; and Cindy Buxton, 18, daughter of an old friend of Prince Philip.

Other papers noted there are hardly any unmarried princesses in Europe the right age for this particular role and it has to be Charles.

Whee — the View From the Top of the three-story high "Slippery Seal Slide" at Valley Fair Shopping Center is a little overpowering and somewhat scary to the two youngsters shown in the top photo, who seem leery as they start their 164-foot descent to solid ground. Appleton's latest popular attraction, which opened this spring, affords speed and thrills galore to residents of all ages, especially Scott Wallis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wallis, middle left, who tries going down the hard way crossways on his gunny sack, but Darrell Gehrke sticks to the traditional manner, hanging on securely. Swift Settlement Is Mediators' Goal

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

FOND DU LAC — Swift settlement of the two-day strike against the Kiekhaefer Corp., a boating industry giant and leading area employer, was the goal today of federal mediators from Green Bay and Milwaukee.

Members of three locals of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers Union, AFL-CIO, went on strike Saturday after rejecting the company's latest new contract offer.

Kiekhaefer has a million square foot headquarters plant in Fond du Lac, four other plants in the United States, Canada and Australia and foreign distribution in more than 120 countries.

On strike—the key issue being wages—are: Local 1947, Fond du Lac; Local 451, Oshkosh; and Local 20, Cedarburg, involving an estimated 2,600 production workers.

Saturday Vote

Federal mediators were notified by Richard Kirchoff, president of Local 1947, of the Saturday vote which saw union members reject the company proposal by a 100-vote margin.

Kirchoff was informed by the mediators that they would be in contact with company and union negotiators "to set up another meeting as soon as possible" in view of the closeness of the vote.

The company, which had been silent through last week's wildcat walkouts by an estimated 100 to 200 employees, still had no statement today with regard to the walkout.

However, it was learned E. Carl Kiekhaefer, president of the firm bearing his name, which is a subsidiary of the Brunswick Corp., called a meeting of key staff members this morning at which "major policy decisions" reportedly were to be made.

In the meantime, the union locals were picketing the plants here and at Cedarburg and Oshkosh, shutting down production lines.

Kirchoff said there are 1,640 employees off the job at the Fond du Lac plant. He reported the union decided to limit the number of pickets as a safety factor due to heavy vehicular traffic in the area.

There were five pickets stationed at eight locations, including the huge plant, warehouse, and downtown facilities.

Joint Bargaining

The three IAM unions are bargaining jointly with the company on a contract covering the plants here and at Oshkosh and Cedarburg.

In addition to pickets parading past the four gates at the main plant, the Fond du Lac County Sheriff's Department has 16 officers and deputies on duty at the scene.

"There has been no problem whatsoever," a department spokesman said at noon.

The Kiekhaefer Corp. employs workers from throughout the Fox Valley, many from this region.

10-Day Sentence Given For Public Intoxication

Mike Grissman, 71, who police said has no permanent address, this morning was sentenced to 10 days in jail after he pleaded guilty to a public intoxication charge brought by Kaukauna police.

Grissman, who last lived on Taft Street in Kaukauna, was arrested early the morning of June 14. He appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Auction Is a 'Bust'

A go-go dancer who "auctioned off" her pasties in a Town of Grand Chute night club Jan. 26, this morning was fined $100 after she was found guilty of disorderly conduct.

Karroll McMullen, 25, whose last known address was 803½ Eighth St., Kaukauna, did not show up for her scheduled jury trial today in Outagamie County Court Branch 2. She pleaded innocent Feb. 1.

Judge Nick F. Schaefer, after hearing testimony by Patrolman Thomas Drootsan of the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department, found the woman guilty. He ordered that the fine and costs be taken from a $100 cash bond she had posted.

R. Thomas Cane, assistant district attorney, told the court the woman's attorney informed his office he did not know her whereabouts.

Drootsan said he was off-duty while at the Paradise Club, 4201 W. Wisconsin Ave., on Jan. 25, when Miss McMullen auctioned off her pasties.

Drootsan said Miss McMullen became "foul and abusive" to customers when no one bid on the pasties.

Drootsan said a man then gave her $5 and she removed the pasties and did a topless dance.

School Supervisors' Pay Plan Is Outlined in Study

Board Will Receive Full Report Tonight Covering Salaries of Administrators, Annual Increases

BY ARLEN BOARDMAN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A plan for separating the salary schedules of teachers and administrators in the Appleton public school system will be presented tonight to the board of education.

The proposal — which would be a significant policy change — was requested by the board of education in March when it hired the professional society and report on salaries of supervisory personnel.

The report, to be presented by Dickson Associates, Neenah, also includes recommendations on 1969-70 salaries for individual supervisory positions, plus a program for determining annual increases for each position.

Job Analysis

The jobs of the approximately 45 supervisory personnel were scrutinized in the two-month analysis. Appleton's more than 600 teachers are not included in the study and their salaries are determined by collective bargaining through the Appleton Education Association.

The salaries of administrators, including principals, department heads, and other non-teaching personnel, have been tied to the teachers master contract. These administrators, depending on their experience and job responsibilities, were granted an additional amount of compensation determined by a percentage system.

The rapidly-rising teachers salaries were reflected in the salary of these supervisory personnel.

Four Top Jobs

However, the four top administrative positions, including superintendent and director of business affairs, were not hinged on the teachers salary schedule.

James Dickson, a partner in Dickson Associates, said this morning that his firm's analysis will give the board "a plan" for setting individual supervisor's salaries in future years.

"This plan will measure the value of the duties the person is performing and also his performance," he said.

20 Arrests Follow Chilton Disturbances

45 Deputies Join Police to Control Disorders at Tavern

CHILTON — One man is being held and warrants have been issued for the arrest of 19 others after two nights of disturbances at a tavern here.

Police Chief Daniel Albedyll reported this morning that Claude Mueller, whose last place of residence was Chilton, is being held in the county jail on $100 bond for disorderly conduct.

The disturbances occurred at Ron and Alice's Sportsman Bar, 53A W. Main St. Ron Pauly, the tavern operator, was charged on three counts of permitting minors to loiter and two counts of disorderly conduct.

Albedyll and 45 deputies closed the bar at 12:45 a.m. this morning and Albedyll has ordered that the bar be closed all day today. Pauly's license expires today and his request for a new one has been denied.

Those to be arrested, 11 from Saturday and nine Sunday, are on charges of loitering, disorderly conduct in connection with the use of firecrackers, curfew for minors and traffic violations near the tavern.

All violators will be arraigned in Calumet County Court at 10 a.m. July 14.

Albedyll reported that "the problems we had were all with county and local residents." Over 70 motorcycle riders from throughout the state were in Chilton over the weekend, but Albedyll says they "behaved well."

Brewery in Oshkosh Sold By Uihlein

OSHKOSH — The controlling interest of Oshkosh Brewing Co., producer of Chief Oshkosh and Rahr's beer, has been sold to a small group of Oshkosh residents and company employees, it was announced this morning.

David Uihlein, Oshkosh, said the sale is effective today. "About six persons from Oshkosh" bought his controlling interest, he said.

The principal stockholders now are two employees — Harold Kriz, Oshkosh, who was general manager, and Roger Zillges, Oshkosh, who was sales manager. They presumably will become president and vice president of the firm, Uihlein said.

He indicated that he resigned as head of the 105-year-old brewery because other business interests are taking up much of his time.

He said he expected no changes in operation.

The brewery, one of two in Oshkosh, produced about 50,000 barrels of beer in 1967, totaling over $1 million in sales.

Weather Will be Better Valley Escapes Fury Of Tornadic Storms

There should be peace in the Fox Valley at least for the next few days.

After a surge of rainstorms and winds which were most severe Thursday afternoon and evening, U.S. Weather Bureau officials at Green Bay this morning predicted only a slight chance of rain and light to moderate winds today and Tuesday. Cool temperatures, however, will continue.

The change will be a relief from an almost daily rain which has hit the Valley and most of Wisconsin throughout

June. However, the approximately six inches that fell this month was far below the more than nine in June of 1967.

Valley Escapes

While southwestern parts of Wisconsin were hit particularly hard this weekend with tornado weather and heavy rain, the Fox Valley escaped with moderate winds and less than an inch of rainfall Friday through Sunday. Over 2½ inches fell in the Fox Cities area Thursday.

A tornado watch was on Sunday night for the southern half of Wisconsin on a line from La Crosse through Oshkosh to Manitowish, but it was lifted. At the same time, a severe thunderstorm watch was on for an area including the Fox Cities, but this was lifted about 7:40 p.m. Sunday, less than two hours after it was announced.

In the Fox Cities, about seven-tenths of an inch of rain fell Sunday evening in at least two separate heavy downpours which dampened the concert by the Appleton City Band in the form of Connie Smith and the Sundowners and Sonny James and the Southern Gentlemen, will reign supreme on Appleton Night, July 16, at the 1969 Outagamie County Fair.

Performances by the two groups of country singers will be held at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m., and will follow a 6:45 p.m.

He has made television appearances on the Lawrence Welk, Jimmy Dean, Ed Sullivan, Tennessee Ernie Ford, Bob Hope and Joey Bishop shows, and also appeared in movies such as "Nashville Rebel" and "Second Fiddle to a Steel Guitar."

Other grandstand performances at the Outagamie Fair include Tammy Wynette and George Jones, Thursday at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m., and Miss Jeanne C. Riley ("Harper Valley PTA") and Stu Gilliam Friday and Saturday evenings. A drum and bugle corps exhibition will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. The grandstand program for Sunday evening, 8 p.m., will be a demolition derby.

Tickets for Wednesday, Appleton Night, are on sale at American State Bank, Appleton State Bank, First National Bank, Northern State Bank, Outagamie Bank, Valley National Bank, and Riley Colonial Furniture. Tickets valued at $3.50 may be purchased early for $1.50. This ticket includes parking, a admission to the grounds, and grandstand performance.

Country and Western music will fill the air during Appleton night at the Outagamie County Fair July 16 as these two popular young singers share the stage. Connie Smith, backed by the Sundowners, will join Sonny James, who has his Southern Gentlemen, to highlight the days events at two performances.

A Charter of Incorporation was presented Saturday to the newly-organized Combined Locks-Kimberly Lions Club, which has 21 members. Present for the official ceremonies are, from left, M. W. Millard, Sturgeon Bay, and Everett Lee, Appleton, deputy governors of the neighboring districts involved with the new club; Shafeec A. Mansour, Wausau, state secretary; James Schroeder, Combined Locks, president of the new club; and Harold Arbeiter, Appleton, president of the Appleton Noon Lions Club, the sponsoring organization. Alcoholism Treatment Center Moving Into New Quarters

Winnebago State Hospital Unit Had Outgrown Present Facilities

WINNEBAGO — The Alcoholism Treatment Unit at Winnebago State Hospital is moving into new quarters this week, taking over approximately one-half of Gordon Hall, built in 1964 for geriatric patients.

The unit will have 100 beds. It had outgrown the space it occupied on two wards in Hughes Hall for the past two years.

There are a number of factors which dictate the move, according to a spokesman from the administration.

Admissions to the unit have risen from 10 per cent of the hospital's total admissions in 1965, the year a separate unit for inebriates was established, to 27 per cent of total admissions in 1967-68. There were 558 admissions to the unit in 1967-68.

Approximately 20 per cent of the admissions this past year have been female, a figure which has doubled in the past year, since females were directly admitted to the unit for treatment.

The past three months, admissions have averaged 75 persons to the unit.

Treatment has become more individualized and two research programs are in motion.

The effects of the hospital's approach to alcoholism treatment during the past four years is becoming more widely known among physicians, law enforcement people and social service workers.

Treatments' Effectiveness

There is encouragement in the fact that the past year's treatment program has proven effective for 25 per cent of all men and women admitted to the unit. The staff is geared to doubling this figure next year. The recent tally shows that 10 per cent of the patients treated have returned to their homes and do not drink the 15 per cent have done some limited "experimenting."

The hospital's educational program has made inroads toward changing the attitude of "Who wants to bother with a drunk?"

The position of Supt. Darold Treffert that if the alcoholic is not taken care of in his own community, by his own family physician and treated for his illness in a local facility — the state hospital will take care of the alcoholic. For the past year he has worked within the medical profession and with civic groups to present the need for local treatment and referral care, which he points out would be at considerably less expense

Man Injured in Industrial Mishap

Clayton Harris, 46, Green Bay, suffered a deep forehead laceration and a cheek injury in an industrial accident late this morning at the Appleton water pumping and filtration plant on Water Street.

Harris was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by the fire department rescue squad about 10:45 a.m.

Authorities said he was standing near a crane which was lifting steel reinforcing rods. The crane reportedly broke and Harris was struck in the head. He works for an Oshkosh construction company which is working on an addition to the water plant.

Man Threatens Wife With Knife; Fined $35 for Bad Conduct

Ted W. Parker, 21, 813 1/2 W. Wisconsin Ave., this morning was fined $35 and costs or eight days in jail after he pleaded guilty to a disorderly conduct charge brought after he threatened his wife with a knife early today.

Appleton police, who were called to Parker's house about 4 a.m., said they found him seated in a living room chair holding a bread knife with a 7 1/2-inch blade. He surrendered the knife on an order by police.

Parker's wife was not harmed. Police confiscated the knife. Parker appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Man Fined $25 for Disorderly Conduct

A $25 fine or six days in jail was ordered this morning for Roger H. Korth, 24, 1811 N. Ullman St., who pleaded guilty to a disorderly conduct charge brought by Appleton police.

Korth was arrested about midnight Sunday after causing a disturbance at the home of his wife's parents.

Menasha Aldermen to Seek Solutions to Sewer Woes

MENASHA — Backed up sewers, flooded basements and related woes overflow to the common council and board of public works tonight, when Public Works Director Bruno Haas says he plans to propose a search for remedies.

Television inspection of sewers in the trouble area is the first step Haas said he expects to recommend.

"It is infiltration, but the problem is, we don't know from where," said Haas of the backup problem that recurs with every major rainstorm.

The works director discussed his intentions between telephone calls that continued to come in this morning from disgruntled householders seeking relief from last Thursday's downpour.

Backup Problems

The backup problems were chiefly west of Grove and north of Seventh streets, particularly on John and Melissa streets, but with reports of flooding also coming in lesser numbers from neighboring streets in the area, Haas said. Another problem area is on the Island.

Some of the difficulty results from leaky sanitary sewers taking on storm water during a heavy downpour such as Thursday night's.

But besides storm water infiltrating sanitary sewers in that way, Haas said he knows other problems are the result of illegal drainage hookups at individual homes.

Where private storm drains connect with sanitary sewers, the result can be an overload of the sanitary system during a storm, and in addition the homeowners may get a backward flow of sewage into his basement when the sanitary sewers become overloaded.

Storm System

In many cases, however, only storm water backed into basements, representing still another problem — an inadequate storm sewer system in the area.

While bids are to be opened soon from contractors seeking the contract for an estimated $478,000 storm sewer project to ease the latter problem, Haas said he planned to ask the council and works board tonight to expand the sewer televising

MRA to Pick Developer On Tuesday

MENASHA — At a special meeting of the redevelopment authority (MRA) Tuesday, Public Facilities Associates, Inc., Madison, is expected to be chosen as sole developer for the downtown redevelopment project.

The meeting is scheduled for noon at the Left Guard Steak House, redevelopment coordinator Robert Osheim announced.

The development firm had written assurance from the MRA in a letter of intent stating Public Facilities would be selected for the project if the firm's redevelopment proposals were approved by the common council.

The council adopted the plans two weeks ago and David Carley, president of Public Facilities, promptly announced the firm was freeing the MRA from the promise to hire his firm.

The announcement by Carley was seen as an attempt to satisfy critics who had complained they were unaware of the MRA promise.

Two People Hurt As Car Hits Pole In Little Chute

LITTLE CHUTE — Two young people suffered head injuries and are being treated at Kaukauna Community Hospital as the result of an accident on Madison Street near Main Street about 1:10 a.m. today.

According to police, David Bongers, 20, 414 Johnson St., driver, suffered a bump on the head and Miss Yvonne Van Hammong, 18, 2111 W. 10th St., Kaukauna, suffered a head laceration when their car left the road and struck a utility pole.

A second passenger, Rick Van Hoof, East Wisconsin Ave., Appleton, complained of a sore knee, but was not hospitalized.

Bongers told police he lost control when he skidded on the wet pavement. Police charged him with reckless driving.

Edgewater Paper Company Sold

MENASHA — Edgewater Paper Co., a 50-year-old Menasha firm, has become a division of Release Methods Co., a Delaware corporation.

Edgewater, which employs about 50 persons at its plant at 206 Garfield Ave., will continue its operation in the field of silicone coating applications. Dave E. Ryan will remain as Edgewater president.

Release Methods Co. was organized by A.M. Kapral, former president of Industrial Synthetics Corp., Chicago. Kapral will be chairman of the board and chief executive officer.

Kapral, developer of splitless pressure sensitive label stock, recently sold his complete interests in silicone as well as in Industrial Synthetics Corp.

Cuba Exiles Keep Crime Rate Down

MIAMI (AP) — Refugees, pouring into the United States from Cuba, commit much less crime than their American hosts, a Miami police report indicates.
 Only one of every 30 persons arrested in Miami last year was a Cuban, police reported. Yet a survey shows that about one of every four Miami residents is a Cuban.
 This year, in line with the nationwide crime upsurge, there has been a 50 per cent increase in arrests in Little Havana, Miami's sprawling Cuban quarter. But the rate is still only one Cuban arrest out of every 22 made in Miami.

School Supervisors' Pay Plan Outlined in Study

formance," Dickson said. He noted that outside factors, as economic conditions, also would have to be considered by the board.

He would not comment on administrators' salaries this morning, but indicated they were adjusted in the recommendation following a survey of "schools of similar size" and geography in the state.

Salaries Refined

As a result of the study, he added, salaries would be refined; for example, a junior high principal's pay would be affected by the size of his school, not just his education and experience.

An eight-member committee of school administrative personnel worked with Dickson Associates on the study, mainly in job descriptions, Dickson said. The various administrative positions were ranked in relation to one another, he added.

The board of education ordered the study in mid-March, recognizing the relationship of teacher and administrator was being changed because of collective bargaining by teachers. Collective bargaining, which grew in the mid-1960s, in effect put the supervisor in a management-type position but with a salary tied to the teacher or employee, contract.

Sharp Criticism

Some administrators' salaries came under sharp criticism by city officials last fall, although their pay was in line with that of administrators of similar school systems. Earlier board studies showed their pay was in line.

In other business, the board will hear a progress report on the preliminary plans for the Appleton High School-West addition and remodeling which is scheduled for bonding in 1970 and completion in 1971.

Reports also will be given on transportation procedures and blacktopping the recreational areas at four elementary schools.

activities at the Little Chute picnic.

But Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. officials reported only light to moderate accompanying winds and apparently no serious damage or power outages. On Thursday, two area persons were hurt and two escaped from drowning, as pounding rains and winds caused considerable damage.

The skies were threatening all day Sunday after early morning showers and the temperature reached only 72. The low this morning was 62.

Sunday's weather ended hopes for a sunny weekend after no rain fell during a clear and comfortable Saturday. Wisconsin Michigan officials reported that 0.19 inch of rain fell Friday and winds gusted up to 41 miles per hour early in the afternoon.

Chilton Hit

The Chilton area was hit by Sunday evening rains totaling about .30 inch, bringing its June rainfall to more than 9 inches through the 29th. However, no high winds or damage was reported.

A spokesman at the Menasha Locks reported the Fox River, Lake Winnebago and Little Lake Butte des Morts were higher than they were at flood time this spring. He said the situation was serious and all river locks were open and cautioned boaters to be careful or stay off the river.

Southwestern Wisconsin was hit with ground-saturating rains Sunday night and funnel clouds were reported throughout the region from Lafayette County in the southwest to Juneau County north of Madison and Racine County in the east.

The flooding halted traffic on many highways in southwestern Wisconsin.

Family Rescued

The weather bureau reported over 6 inches of rain fell in Darlington in Lafayette in four hours and lesser amounts in surrounding areas. At Darlington, a family was rescued without injury from a car swept against a bridge railing by high water.

Officials reported that a State 23 bridge was badly damaged by the pressure of flowing water, halting traffic into Darlington.

Many buildings were damaged by reported twisters in the Darlington area and merchants began preparing for the high water Sunday night by moving merchandise to higher points.

Water filled streets in Milwaukee where nearly 2 inches of rain fell during Sunday night. Several short power failures were reported in the 15-county southeastern Wisconsin area.

North Central Airline flights out of Milwaukee's Mitchell Field were suspended because of knee-deep water on the taxiways.

Parked Cars Hit; Two Hurt

Driver Hospitalized; Woman Injures Leg In Second Mishap

Two persons were injured in separate accidents 15 minutes apart Sunday night. Thomas H. Captain, 26, 729 W. Spencer St., was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment of a back injury he suffered when his car, which was southbound on Memorial Drive, struck the rear of a parked auto owned by Joseph Ellenbecker, 832 W. Front St.

The accident occurred near Eighth Street. The Ellenbecker car was shoved across the street and onto a terrace. Captain's car spun around and landed against the curb. Property damage was extensive.

At 10:45 p.m., Arline E. Brainard, 132 E. Wisconsin Ave., suffered leg injuries, but was not hospitalized, when her car rolled down a driveway and struck a parked car. The accident occurred at E. Wisconsin Avenue and N. Morrison Street.

Appleton police said the woman parked her car and was getting out when the vehicle started rolling backward, dragging her. The car crossed Wisconsin Avenue and struck the left side of a parked car owned by Gordon Lamb, 327 W. Atlantic St.

Lass From Rural Chilton Crowned First Miss Calumet

NEW HOLSTEIN — A pretty 17-year-old hazel-eyed 1970 graduate of Stockbridge High School was crowned the first Miss Wisconsin before a sellout crowd at the Senior High School auditorium here Sunday night under the theme of "Showboat."

Cathy Hemauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hemauer, route 3, Chilton, will reign as the new queen throughout the coming year and will be a contender for the Miss Wisconsin crown in the 1970 pageant at Oshkosh. The pageant was sponsored by Miss Calumet, Inc. Association.

Cathy chose as her talent three excerpts from a serious declamation taken from Edgar Allan Poe's "Telltale Heart." For her evening gown competition, she chose a white-crepe sheath, cut with an empire waistline. The bodice was of white lace with a back drape. She wore over-the-elbow white gloves with shoes to match.

Peacock Swimsuit

For her swimming suit competition, she chose a brilliant peacock blue one-piece suit with shoes to match.

As the last five finalists were picked from a field of 13 contestants they were each given a question to answer. Cathy's question was "If you had an opportunity to talk to someone special about a particular matter, who would you choose and why?" Cathy said she felt a great loss after the death of Robert Kennedy whom she felt always understood youth, and she would have liked to talk to him.

Cathy was also picked by her fellow contestants as the Miss Congeniality award winner. As Miss Congeniality she will receive a $25 scholarship and a trophy. As the Miss Calumet queen she will receive a $150 scholarship, trophy, a queen's portrait and her wardrobe for the Miss Wisconsin competition in 1970. She will also be given a course at the John Robert Powers School of Modeling in Milwaukee and other gifts.

College Plans

Cathy is 5-foot-6 inches in height, has brown hair and weighs 129 pounds. She includes swimming, skiing and riding as her hobbies and after graduation from Stockbridge High School in 1970, will attend La Crosse State University.

First runnerup was Mary Stumpf, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Stumpf of Sherwood. Mary played the guitar and sang two folk songs as her talent. She will receive a $75 scholarship and trophy and if for some unforeseen reason Miss Hemauer could not compete in the 1970 Miss Wisconsin pageant, then Mary would have that honor.

Second runnerup was Sandra Lefebber, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lefebber, St. Cloud. She performed a gymnastics routine on a balance beam. She will receive a $25 scholarship and trophy.

Other Finalists

Ann Gordon, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Gordon and Linda Schroven, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Schroven, route 3, Chilton, made up the five finalists.

Mistress of ceremonies was Angela Gina Baldi, Miss Wisconsin of 1964. Music and songs were provided by the New Holstein Men's Chorus under the direction of Edgar Theissen and Barb Wessel did the organ music honors.

Judges for the pageant were James Marshall, news director, WBAY-TV, Green Bay; Walter Scott Jr., executive vice president of the Miss Wisconsin Pageant; Kenneth Seefeld, business manager of Miss Wisconsin, Oshkosh; Miss Marilyn Brahmstadt, 1968 Miss Wisconsin, La Crosse; Barbara Burke Baugh, 1967 Miss Wisconsin.

Kari Markwardt, Miss New Holstein 1968, was made an official citizen of the city at a dinner reception for all the

Dismissal Motion On Smut Charge Gets Denial

Circuit Court Judge Andrew W. Parnell has denied motions for dismissal by the attorney for Eugene Court, 43, 508 S. Walnut St., who is charged with having obscene or indecent pictures for sale.

Parnell did not set a date for trial. Court, charged in a complaint signed by an Appleton businessman, is free on a $1,000 signature bond.

The businessman who brought the complaint told authorities he paid $2 for each of three picture magazines he purchased March 21 at the Book Seller, 609 W. College Ave. Court operates the book store.

Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer earlier denied motions for dismissal, following a preliminary hearing, and he bound the case over to Circuit Court.

Eyesore Index Rates Blight in County Areas

Outagamie, Brown Have Good Ratings For Outdoor Order

Eastern Central Wisconsin rates from five to 64 on a state "eyesore index," meaning that counties like Outagamie and Brown have relatively few dilapidated buildings, dumping grounds, and auto graveyards, and Waupaca County has quite a few.

The lowest "eyesore index" rating in the state is a 3, in Walworth County, and an 899, in Florence County is the highest. Brown and Outagamie counties tied for the most blemish-free roadways, with an eyesore index rating of five each. Winnebago County rated a 19, Calumet a 21, and Waupaca County showing fifth with a 64.

Relative Ratings

The Wisconsin Natural Beauty Council's eyesore index is a relative rating of a county's appearance, based on the number of dumping grounds, auto graveyards and dilapidated buildings in the county.

"A county's eyesore index is not an absolute figure, but it is a good indicator of how a county stacks up," according to A. W. Jorgenson, acting council director. "Lower eyesore index ratings are more desirable than higher ratings."

Eyesore Index

The eyesore index is derived by adding the number of dumping grounds, auto graveyards and dilapidated buildings and dividing that total by the population in tens of thousands times the miles of roadway, in thousands of miles.

The formula relates the index to road mileage, while the population adjustment is a "forgiveness" factor for counties with higher numbers of people which contribute to a larger number of eyesores.

The eyesore index is intended to foster a continuing inventory program in each county and community and promote awareness of the various types of environmental blight.

British Reds Demand Arms Program Halving

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson was handed a letter from British Communists Sunday demanding a 50 per cent cut in the nation's arms program.

The letter was taken to the prime minister's official residence by 1,000 marchers who had attended a Communist rally in Trafalgar Square.

Appleton Firm's Truck Drivers 'Go to School'

More than 100 power truck operators at Appleton Coated Paper Co. may be better equipped to do their job because of a two-day training session conducted recently.

Purpose of the program was to bring the firm's power truck operators up-to-date on safe driving techniques, operational fundamentals and related mechanical aspects of their machines, according to Paul Meier, training manager and coordinator of the program.

Sessions were divided between classroom lectures and in-plant demonstrations. Speakers included Frank Diehn, vice president of Milwaukee Engineering and Equipment Co., Milwaukee, suppliers of Hyster power trucks, and Larry Casey, finishing plant manager.

Diehn also demonstrated the proper method for changing fuel tanks on power trucks. Darwin Kobs, Valley Recharging Service, Appleton, demonstrated the use of various types of fire extinguishers used in quelling LP fuel tank fires.

Operators from material handling, shipping-receiving, trimmers-packaging and NCR re-winder departments participated.

In This Case, Yell 'Fore' Not 'Serve'

HIGHLAND PARK, Ill. (AP)—Don Sieffert got a birdie Sunday—surprising since he was playing tennis, not golf.

The tennis pro was playing an exhibition match with three amateurs at Highland Park Country Club when a sparrow swooped into the path of a hard-hit serve. Sieffert's ball knocked the bird to the ground.

Pilot Buzzes Home, Crashes in Front Yard

PLYMOUTH, Ind. (AP)—Terry Hite, 22, of Plymouth, piloting a single-engine airplane, made a low pass over his parents' home Saturday. The plane crashed in the front yard, apparently after striking power lines. A neighbor pulled the injured pilot from the wreckage before it caught fire. Hite suffered a broken arm and cuts.

Johnny Coy Signs Off After 11 Years in Radio

Last Broadcast on WNAM Saturday;
Jingo Also Notes WAPL-FM Series

BY JINGO

A familiar voice left the Fox Cities air waves Saturday as Johnny Coy, a staff announcer for WNAM-Radio for the past 11 years, signed off for the last time.

Johnny, who has made many friends over the years, both as a result of his radio appearances and of his management of the station's public service desk, told Jingo he was not at liberty to discuss his plans, but that they would be revealed shortly.

"I haven't missed a day of work in 11 years," he smiled, recalling that he originally came to the Fox Cities as a staff announcer for WAPL, when it was operated by the Bartell organization.

After three and one-half years with WAPL, Johnny was persuaded to move over to WNAM by Tom Collins, then a "Big Station" staffer. During his tenure at WNAM, Johnny was responsible for the music library as well as his announcing and public service chores.

Among the many public service agencies with whom he's dealt are the Neenah-Menasha Blood Bank, the Heart Fund, Bergstrom Art Center and Rawhide, Inc. He will continue to serve as a director of the Appleton Baseball Club.

Of all his activities in the public service field, he's perhaps proudest of the role he has played in recording speeches by forensics students at St. Mary High.

"The kids have come a long way," Johnny said, explaining that the tapes are used in the classroom, and are kept on hand for future reference. A number of the students using the tapes have won state awards, he said.

Despite his resignation from WNAM, Johnny plans to stay in the Fox Cities... but as listener, not as a performer.

Speaking of local radio, Mary Ellen Ducklow, of WAPL-FM informs Jingo that she has a full line-up of guests for forthcoming "Curtain Up" broadcasts, heard at 8:15 a.m. Fridays, throughout the summer.

Now in its fourth year, the show began its 1969 season two weeks ago, with an interview with Don E. Jones, director of Attic Theatre. Last week, Mary Ellen's guest was Richard Dixon, Attic's production manager.

Next Friday, July 4, Mary Ellen will interview Attic's box office girls, the Misses Kris Shockley and Libby Ernest (both 1969 graduates of AHS-East), with regard to their problems, procedures and observations.

The following Friday, July 11, her guest will be a representative of the newly-formed Eldon Bruch Repertory Theatre — probably its founder, Garry Bruch.

Guests on successive shows will be: July 18, Lilladee Bellinger, choreographer of the Attic musical, "Mame"; July 25, Gordon Case, costume designer for Attic Theatre; Aug. 1, James Auer, Post-Crescent drama reviewer, on "How to Watch a Play"; Aug. 8, Marilyn Auer, president, Attic Theatre,

Avengers Hunt Ghosts In Chapel

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-7:30 (Channels 11-9) — The Avengers are on a ghost-hunting spree. There are rumors that a Duke's private chapel is haunted, and Steed and Emma are assigned to debunk the gossip. A simple task were it not for the intrusions of several eccentrics from F.O.G. (Friends of Ghosts) and S.M.O.G. (Scientific Measurement of Ghosts).

6:30-7 (Channel 5) — Tony is not with us on I Dream of Jeannie, but Larry Hagman is. Hagman plays Tony's double, a secret agent sent to take the place of the astronaut to insure security when Tony is sent off on a special mission. (R)

7-8 (Channel 5) — Flip Wilson is the guest star on Rowan & Martin's Laugh-In, a rerun of the program that introduced the "Quickies," abstract pictures accompanying a monologue by Dan and Dick. A major segment is devoted to the history of the bed, with Arte Johnson narrating. The Mod Mod World takes a look at senior citizens, with most of the cast coming on as aged hipsters in one dilemma or another. (R)

7:30-8 (Channels 2-7) There are few shows as predictable as Here's Lucy. It's funny anyway, even though you can just imagine what happens when Lucy accompanies her son to the motor vehicle bureau for the 16-year-old's driving test. (R)

8-9 (Channels 11-9) — Guest star acting takes over on The Outcasts, with Fritz Weaver as a school teacher suspected of being a notorious Union Army officer living incognito. He is accused of killing 12 people who refused to give up an escaping Confederate prisoner. (R)

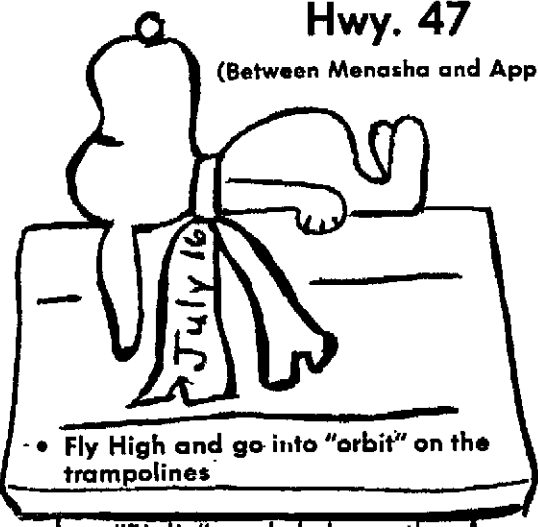

8-8:30 (Channels 2-7) — Back

Inc.; Aug. 15, Tom Jacobs, musical director, "Mame", and Aug. 22, an evaluation of the summer's efforts by Attic's grants-in-aid students.

And, finally, radio's well-known "Beard", Bob Petersen, whispers to Jingo that his syndicated "Carnival of Music" show has been sold to the Armed Forces Radio Network, for airing around the world.

In addition, Juneau-Petersen Productions which transcribes the show, has been talking with one of the entertainment world's better-known stars with regard to taping his reminiscences for world-wide distribution. Looks as if there's still gold in "them thar" airwaves, after all!

In January, Mayberry R.F.D. introduced a new character in an episode featuring Aunt Bee. She is off on a ocean tour and is kidded about finding a ship-board romance. The joke becomes a reality when she mistakes the Captain (Will Geer) for a steward and the two take an instant liking for each other. (R)

8-10 (Channels 11-9) — The Dick Cavett Show takes on a political and controversial look tonight with the appearance of Clifford Alexander, a member of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. The commissioner has been at odds with Senate Minority Leader Dirksen and it is expected that Cavett will allow him to air his views in any manner he sees fit.

8-10 (Channels 2-7) — The star of The Jimmie Rodgers Show opens the hour with Tom Jones' favorite opener, "Help Yourself," but does it with far more sophistication than his Welsh counterpart. Also on the subdued side are "Child of Clay," his story-song presentation, and "Didn't We," the show's closing number. Singer-comedian Kaye Stevens does a triple, soloing "Just Like a Woman," joining Rodgers for "I Wish I Were In Love Again," and becoming part of a marital triangle in a comedy skit with Nancy Austin and Lyle Waggoner.

Israelis Claim Deepest Raid

National Contest

Oldtimers Holler

SPIVEY'S CORNER, N.C. (AP) — There's a lot more to hollerin' than just making noise.

First off, you got to have a little rhythm and then you need a special style that will set your hollerin' apart from another fellow's hollerin' and it's got to be clear and distinct and carry for quite a distance.

Real hollerin' actually belongs to an age now buried by the telephone lines and television cables and automobiles and newspapers.

It once was the main mode of communications for the predominantly rural population of the South.

Last Saturday night out at Spivey's Corner, a crossroads community where two highways intersect and cars seldom slow down to less than 60 miles an hour, some 3,000 persons gathered for the first annual National Hollerin' Contest.

The idea for the contest was hatched by John Thomas, a Dunn radio company official, and Ermon Godwin Jr., a Dunn banker.

They passed the word around for any folks who could still holler to show up Saturday at the Midway High School football field, about one good holler from Spivey's Corner.

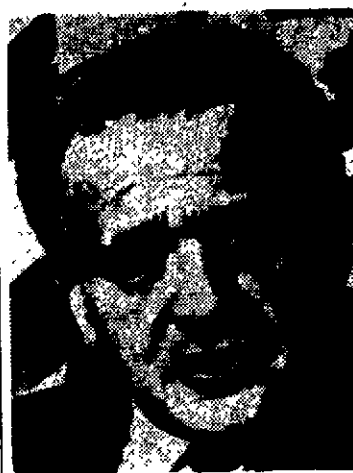

A bunch of teen-agers entered, but all they could do was just plain yell and screech and scream.

Then the oldtimers took the platform—which was the bed of a big red truck—and let loose with some downright bonafide east North Carolina country hollerin'.

When it was all over, Dewey Jackson a 70-year-old dairy farmer from down the road a piece at Roseboro, N.C., was the national champion.

Jackson's hollerin' was done to the tune of "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," and started off like the yodel of a Swiss Alpine and ended up like the lonesome baying of a coyote on a moonlit night.

Jackson says he got his start at hollerin' "just about 70 years ago when my Mammy slapped me on the bottom the day I was born. And my Daddy did a lot of hollerin' and I started hollerin' right along with him."

Bart Lytton, flamboyant founder of one of the nation's largest savings and loan associations, the Lytton Savings and Loan Association, died Sunday of a heart attack in Los Angeles. He was 56. Lytton used skillful gimmicks in advertising to amass a personal estate estimated at $15 million after World War II. Early in 1968 he was pushed out as corporation head due to falling profits and rising worries among creditors. "It killed him," said a friend. "He couldn't stand losing." (AP Wirephoto)

Egypt Says Power Line Undamaged

TEL AVIV (AP) — The Israeli army said today its commandos launched their deepest raid into Egypt since the 1967 Middle East war and ruptured a high tension power line linking Cairo and the Aswan Dam. But Egypt denied all knowledge of the raid.

A spokesman in Cairo said: "I contacted all authorities and power experts in Egypt and all of them reported there was no power failure or rupture of electric lines. The Israelis might be the victims of false reports."

The attack Sunday night was the fourth commando raid into Egypt since the war and the closest to Cairo. The army said the commandos hit Suhaj, 240 miles south of the Egyptian capital and 135 miles west of the Egyptian-Israeli border.

As usual the army did not say how the commandos reached the target, by land or in troop-carrying aircraft. Spokesmen would only say the commando squad returned to base without suffering any casualties.

Power Sites Target

It was the third Israeli raid directed against power installations on the Nile River, coming only a few days after naval commandos attacked an Egyptian radar station on the Gulf of Suez. They claimed killing 25 Arab soldiers in that raid and destroying most of the post's installations.

Besides rupturing the 500 kilovolt Cairo-Aswan line, the commandos damaged a second power line supplying Suhaj, the army said. It added the attack met no resistance or interference on the ground.

Wrecks Auto

In Tel Aviv, police questioned about 20 Arab suspects in connection with the city's worst bomb blast this year. Ten persons were injured today when a stolen Israeli civilian jeep packed with at least 100 pounds of explosives blew up near Tel Aviv's main entertainment strip.

The explosion wrecked a nearby auto, damaged six others and shattered windows in several houses causing most of the casualties, police said.

Former Premier of Congo

Heart Attack Kills Tshombe

ALGIERS (AP) — Moise Tshombe, known as the "rubber man" of African politics, died Sunday of an apparent heart attack, The Algerian Press Service reported today. He was 49.

A communique signed by 10 Algerian doctors said the former premier of the Congo and leader of the breakaway state of Katanga appeared to have died in his sleep. It said an autopsy was to be performed today.

The announcement of Tshombe's death came two years to the day after a French plane hijacker brought him to Algeria at gunpoint. The plane had been chartered to take Tshombe from Spain, where he had been living in exile, to Palma de Majorca.

After a deal fell through between Algeria and the Congo to extradite Tshombe to Kinshasa (formerly Leopoldville) to face a death sentence, Tshombe's status, became veiled in official silence. He was kept in solitary confinement for two years, well treated but denied contact with the outside world.

Showed Resiliency

Tshombe earned his nickname by showing remarkable political resiliency in rebounding from utter defeat after the fall of Katanga in 1963 to become premier of the Congo in July 1964. The man with the moon face and toothy grin inspired no in-between emotions among Congolese. He was either loved or hated.

Tshombe

wealthy African businessman in an economy controlled by Belgians.

Tshombe was often known to boast: "I am a rich man. I am the only Congolese who does not need to be in politics to make a living. No one can buy me."

Raised as a Methodist with a high school education, Tshombe toured Europe before coming home to run the family's interests, marry the daughter of a tribal chief and father 10 children.

He served on several tribal and provincial councils in the 1950s, and when Belgium was ready to grant its colony independence, Tshombe was premier of its richest province.

Declared Independence

Independence came July 1, 1960, and the Congolese army mutinied soon after. Tshombe waited 10 days for President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier Patrice Lumumba to restore order, then declared independence for Katanga.

Backed by Belgian mining firms and an army led by white mercenaries from South Africa and Rhodesia, Tshombe withstood worldwide pressure and United Nations efforts to end his secession for 30 months.

'Quiet' Trip To Europe Set By Kennedy

Senator Hoping To Cool Talk on His Plans for 1972

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is planning a quiet look at Europe this summer, avoiding meeting heads of state who might want to talk with a potential presidential candidate.

Kennedy, the Senate's No. 2 Democratic leader, expects to take advantage of the August congressional recess for his trip.

But he wants none of the fanfare which marked the last trip of his late brother, Robert F. Kennedy, to European capitals. This trip also promises to contrast sharply with the European tour which Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is on now.

Humphrey, the 1968 Democratic presidential candidate and a potential nominee in 1972, will visit England, Denmark, Finland, Switzerland as well as spending a week in Russia. He will make public appearances and may confer with Kremlin leaders.

Kennedy's journey will be made as quietly as circumstances permit as part of an effort to lower the sound level of speculation about his political future.

Too Soon

It is Kennedy's judgment that it is entirely too soon to make any calculation about what is going to happen three years from now. He recognizes, for example, that events—particularly a settlement in Vietnam—could make President Nixon all but unbeatable.

At 37 the Massachusetts senator is young enough and politically cautious enough to wait if 1972 looks like a bad year for the Democratic nominee.

There also is the intervening matter of getting re-elected to the Senate next year. Nobody expects any real difficulty but Kennedy's decision to stick closely to Senate business this year indicates he intends to take no chances.

Plane Gets to Ireland Safely Despite Fuselage Holes, Burst Engine Cover

SHANNON, Ireland (AP) — Nervous passengers cheered and applauded when a chartered Canadian DC8 jetliner landed at Shannon airport Sunday night with two holes in its fuselage and a blown off engine cover.

The jetliner with 260 persons aboard was on its way from London and Shannon to Toronto when the top of a starboard engine burst, tearing two holes in the plane and reducing pressure in the cabin, airline officials said.

Fearing that the reduced press might cause an explosion, Capt. Neil Carey, the pilot, of Vancouver, B.C., dropped down from 35,000 feet and sent out a distress call. The plane was 600 miles from land.

Two Royal Air Force planes sped to escort the jetliner back to Shannon. American crews in Iceland and the Azores were alerted and a Royal Navy destroyer stood by. Fifty minutes later the stricken plane jettisoned its fuel and came in for a landing at Shannon.

"I can see her coming in—on fire," the air traffic controller at Shannon said. "She's down safely, a perfect, three-point landing."

The passengers, all Canadians or Britons who had emigrated, were members of the Toronto Natural Hygiene Society and their families. They debarked unhurt with the crew of 11 and spent the night at Shannon.

Broke Through Doodin

One passenger Daniel Boyd, 74, a Canadian said, "There was a heck of a bang and some pieces of metal broke through the door. We were all worried and frightened until the captain spoke to us.

"He told us very calmly that the cover on No. 3 engine had blown off and that we were turning back to Shannon and going to land on three engines.

"He made it seem as if it were an everyday happening."

Another passenger, John Buss, 27, a Briton, said, "There was one hell of a bang and the plane shuddered. It lasted only a second and we knew something had hit us.

"I felt the sweat running down my brow and felt very apprehensive. We strapped ourselves in and waited. The wait was unbearable. There was a rousing cheer and a lot of applause when we landed."

Two Branches Make Antlers For a Moose Head Novelty

BY CAPPY DICK

A moose head made of tree branches and a picture becomes an unusual decoration to display thick as in figure 1. Sharpen one end of the board so it can be pressed into the earth of the flower pot.

Make a drawing of a moose's head or, if possible, find a picture of the proper size to fit the antlers. Mount the picture on cardboard and cut it out. Glue the picture to the front of the pointed board.

Press the pointed end into the earth of the pot, completing the effect as in Figure 2. If a leafy plant is placed in the flower pot, the moose will appear to be looking at you through the foliage.

The Foxes' Greg Howell (19) loses his cap after avoiding the tag of Burlington catcher Bronco Grace to score in the second inning of their Midwest League game at Goodland Field Sunday night. Howell had been on third base and tagged up on Max

Foxes Win Opener Of Second Round

Double Bill With Bees Set Tonight

BY RON WITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

There's something about starting a new season that makes the '69 edition of the Appleton Foxes a tough club to reckon with.

Appleton, which won its first 10 games in the opening half of the season en route to tying for the Midwest League pennant, chalked up its initial victory of the second half by trouncing the Burlington Bees, 7-3, in the opener of a scheduled double-header at Goodland Field Sunday before a "Kid's Night" crowd of 2,727.

A brief but heavy rainstorm shortly after the contest caused postponement of the second game. It didn't take long for the field, already saturated from last week's downpours, to become a quagmire, and the umpires just as quickly made their decision to call the second tilt off.

The two teams will try to play another doubleheader again today beginning at 6:30 p.m. Southpaw Mickey Abarbanel, who posted a 13-4 record with the Midwest League champion Foxes in the first of the two 7-inning games, Gresham's Dan Neumeier, a righthander, is slated to hurl the second tilt.

Abarbanel was added to the Foxes' roster recently when infielder Dana Ryan was called into the military. The lefty has been troubled by a sore arm. Neumeier has made two short appearances in relief but hasn't had a start.

Burlington will counter with two righthanders. Steve Mastin (3-4) takes the mound for the opener, and unbeaten Bill Geiger (4-0) hurls the nightcap.

Scores 4 in Fourth

A 4-run outburst in the fourth inning turned out to be Appleton's margin of victory Sunday night. The Foxes also tallied single runs in the second, fifth, and sixth frames.

Roger Reid and Max Correa each drove in a pair of runs to lead the Foxes' 8-hit assault on three Bees' pitchers. Glenn Redmon continued his torrid pace since joining the team with two hits and an RBI, raising his average to .461 (6-for-13).

All of the Burlington scoring came as a result of home runs, back-to-back 340-foot shots over the left field wall by Reyes Ortiz and Bronco Grace in the top of the sixth. The blow by Ortiz came with Vic Sciamarelli on first.

Newly-acquired righthander Dennis O'Toole got credit for his first win for the Foxes. O'Toole, a brother to former

Tigers Limp Out of Baltimore; Oakland Clips Chisox Twice

BY MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers went into Baltimore like Tigers and came out like sheep, toothless and all but sheered of their American League title.

Entering the four-game series with the Orioles, last Friday Detroit Manager Mayo Smith called at least three victories for the Tigers a must if they entertained any hopes of catching the runaway Orioles in the Eastern Division.

Instead, it was the Orioles who captured three of four, beating the Tigers 4-3 on Frank Robinson's run-scoring pinch-hit single in the ninth inning Sunday after Detroit had rallied for three runs in the ninth for a 3-2 triumph in the opener of the doubleheader.

Now, with July already upon them, the third place Tigers' growl sounded more like a baa as they stood 13½ games behind Baltimore.

The Orioles also increased their lead over second place Boston to 11 games after the Red Sox bowed twice to Washington Senators 5-4 and 11-4.

A's Hike Lead

Oakland was not having such an easy time in the Western Division, but the A's did raise their lead over Minnesota to 1½ games with a 3-2, 6-5 sweep over the Chicago White Sox with help from the power hitting of Reggie Jackson, who hit his 29th homer.

The Twins split with Kansas City, dropping the first game 7-2 before rolling to a 12-2 rout behind Tony Oliva's five hits, including two homers.

In other games, Cleveland beat the New York Yankees 5-1 before losing 6-3 and California crushed Seattle 8-2.

The Tigers, after dropping the first two games of their series with Baltimore, had only two hits off Mike Cuellar and trailed 2-0 entering the ninth inning of the doubleheader opener before making some noise.

Two walks and Tom Tresh's run-scoring single ousted Cuellar and Al Kaline followed with a two-run, two-out single off Eddie Watt, giving Mickey Lolich, 10-1, the victory.

Freeman Homers

Bill Freeman's two-run homer gave them a 3-3 tie in the third inning of the nightcap, but then Dave Leonhard 6-0, silenced them the last 6-1-3 innings and the Orioles applied the crusher in the ninth.

Chico Salmon opened with a single and after a force out, a ground out and a walk, Robinson delivered.

Roston threw away its chances in the first game when the Senators scored three times against a major league record-tying five pitchers.

One run scored on reliever Bill Landis' wild throw on a bunt and another on Brant Aylaea's sacrifice fly. Then with the bases loaded and one out, Del Unser forced a runner at the plate, but catcher Tom Satriano threw wild to first base.

trying for the double play, and Ed Brinkman raced home with the winning run.

The Senators wasted little time in the nightcap as Mike Epstein, who hit his 16th homer in the first game, capped a six-run second inning with a three-whirl John Schlee, tied with run smash Frank Howard add.

Williams Sets Consecutive-Game Mark

41,060 Watch Cubs Sweep Pair

BY DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tireless Billy Williams and the non-stop Chicago Cubs are swinging from their heels ... while the startled St. Louis Cardinals hang by their thumbs.

Williams eclipsed Stan Musial's National League ironman record Sunday as the Cubs all but extinguished St. Louis' 1969 pennant hopes by sweeping a doubleheader with the defending champs 3-1 and 12-1 behind a barrage of extra base hits.

The double triumph sent the East Division leaders eight games up on second place New York and dropped the fourth place Cardinals 14 games off the pace.

Williams, flooded with gifts in a between-games ceremony before 41,060 Wrigley Field partisans, broke Musial's mark of 895 consecutive games in the nightcap. He celebrated the occasion by smacking two triples, a double and a single ... after doubling in the eighth inning of the opener to ignite the Cubs' winning three-run rally.

"We did what we had to do," said Ron Santo, whose five RBI in the nightcap boosted his league lead to 9. "They came to town to beat us and we beat them. They're still a strong club, but I feel we're going to win it."

"They kicked the brains out of us," said Cards Manager Red Schoendienst, whose club won the series opener last Friday and then took three straight beatings. "Catch 'em? It's possible, but awful tough. Heck, we've got two other clubs to catch before we even begin to worry about Chicago."

The Mets snapped a four-game losing string with a 7-3 victory over third place Pittsburgh; Philadelphia swept a pair from Montreal 2-0 and 5-1 for a six-game winning skein; Los Angeles defeated San Diego 3-1; Atlanta topped Houston 4-3; and Cincinnati nipped San Francisco 7-6 in 10 innings in other NL games.

After Williams' eighth inning double off Bob Gibson, Ernie Banks singled home the first run of the Chicago opener and Willie Smith belted a two-run homer. Smith's blast enabled Ferguson Jenkins, 10-5, to sur-

Crampton for second place, going into the final round, had a 71 for 277.

Arnold Palmer couldn't get it going and had a par 70 for 279 and a tie with five others for ninth place. Julius Boros had a 71 for 280. Jack Nicklaus a 74 for 289 and was tied at the figure, far back in the pack, with Lee Trevino and Masters title holder George Archer.

U.S. Open champion Orville Moody had a two-stroke lead, going into the final round, but bogeyed the first hole when he missed the green and failed on a six-foot par putt.

But he birdied the fourth from eight feet and the sixth from 20 feet to hit a four iron. The 6-foot-2 turned in 34 and had a three-stroke margin over Crampton, that's just what you did at the who was out in par.

That was cut to one when took out a three iron, but Crampton birdied the 11th and missed the green. But at least Coody took a bogey on 12, again took a club and hit it.

He chipped on to within three feet and dropped the putt. On three holes, and then came the 18th, needing only a par to final three when Coody fought win, he pitched 12 feet past the hole, but made the putt.

Masters collapse.

He won $22,000 boosting his "On the 17th (a par 3), 1 start- winnings for the year to $67,000.

Napoles Retains Crown

Cokes Fails in Title Fight

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Curtis Cokes of Dallas, battered and bloody after a game but vain attempt to "spread that butter on my bread," says he will wait for a month before making a decision on his boxing future.

The 32-year-old Texan was thoroughly outclassed Sunday night by World Welterweight Champion Jose Angel Napoles and failed to answer the bell for the 11th round in a scheduled 15-round title bout for the title.

The Cuban-born Napoles had won the crown from Cokes last April in Los Angeles when Cokes failed to answer the bell for round 13.

"I'll rest and think for a month before deciding what to do," Cokes said after the fight.

His right eye was swollen shut and cut, and his left was cut and badly swollen. He had been bleeding from the nose and mouth when manager Doug Lord let referee Ramon Berumen count the challenger out on his stool after the bell for round 11.

Crowd Favorite

Napoles, whose nickname "Mantequilla" means butter in Spanish, was a betting favorite and a crowd favorite in the open-air Plaza Mexico bull ring on a drizzly and cool night.

Before the fight, Cokes had promised: "I plan to spread that butter on my bread and get back the title. I want to be champion again."

Napoles had Cokes reeling against the ropes and bleeding in round three and never changed his determined expression as he jabbed and landed powerful rights until Cokes admitted he was helpless.

Napoles weighed 145 to 146½ for Cokes.

The fight goes into the record books as the champion's 36th knockout in 53 fights he has won 49 and lost five.

Cokes, who won the title on Nov. 28, 1968, by defeating Jean Josselin of France in a Dallas title elimination match, has a record of 47 victories, three draws and 11 defeats.

A crowd of about 25,000—held to half the capacity of the world's largest bull ring because of the threatening weather—watched the bout in person and it was televised throughout Mexico, to several U.S. cities and to Puerto Rico by satellite.

KAC Softball Title Game Halted in 4th

KAUKAUNA — The championship game of the Kaukauna Athletic Club's softball tournament was rained out Sunday night in the top of the fourth inning.

At the point of interruption, the 616 Club of Green Bay, held a 1-0 lead over Ed Rantz, of Milwaukee. Action will be resumed in the fourth inning when the game is completed on a still-unselected date.

Esquire Bar, of Green Bay, stopped Jitter's and John's, of Menasha, 7-0, in the third-place game.

Injury Forces Tigers' Wilson Out of Game

BALTIMORE (AP) — Pitcher Earl Wilson of the Detroit Tigers was struck on the right hand by a line drive in the first inning of Sunday's second game and had to leave the contest.

Wilson, struck on the right palm, near the thumb, was taken to Union Memorial Hospital for X rays.

Don Buford, Baltimore's lead-off batter, hit the ball directly at Wilson and wound up on second when catcher Bill Freehan retrieved the ball and overthrew first base.

Heinritz, Kiley, Recker Hurl No-Hitter in BRL 'Star Tilt'

Dan Heinritz, Terry Kiley and Mike Recker combined to hurl a no-hitter as the Southern Division beat the Northern, 6-1, in the Babe Ruth All-Star game Saturday at Hoover Park. The three pitchers totaled 12 strikeouts.

The only run for the North was scored on an error.

Three walks, an error and a single by Tom Sommers led to three six inning runs for the South. Sommers' single drove two runs across.

The winners added another run in the eighth on Mike Wallen's sacrifice fly and two more in the ninth on hits by Dave Mauthe and Jeff Beschta.

The South collected a total of six hits. Sommers, Beschta, Mauthe, Kiley and John Allen each had singles while Heinritz had the only extra base hit of the game, a double.

Heinritz was the winning pitcher. Brian Kasten took the loss.

Mosinee's Pankratz Overtakes Ev Fox to Win KK 50-Lapper

BY TOM VERHAGEN

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

KAUKAUNA — A warm evening. A sizable crowd. An excellent racing program. Three qualities needed for a perfect racing night.

These three qualities were all in evidence Saturday night as the KK Sports Arena staged another late-model program on its banked, half-mile oval.

An impressive display of racing talents were exhibited in the feature event as Ken Pankratz, of Mosinee, in a '69 Ford Torino and Ev Fox, of Sparta, in a '66 Chevelle, put on a 28-lap, weaving, pushing, bumping affair with neither car ever farther than a car length and a half behind one another.

It wasn't until the 43rd lap that Pankratz was able to overtake Fox, and hang on to win the 50-lap event.

The caution flag was displayed for three laps (9-10-11) as Bay Darnell of Deerfield, Ill., in a '67 Chevelle, careened head-on into the retaining wall in the No. 3 turn, extensively damaging his auto. He escaped uninjured.

Escapes Injury

On the 37th lap, Appleton's Jim Courtney in a '67 Ford, blew his engine coming down the front chute, causing a minor fire. Courtney also escaped injury.

Following Pankratz and Fox to the checkered flag in the feature was Menasha's George Giesen in a '69 Chevrolet, with Rich Somers of Stevens Point, in a '67 Mercury fourth and Bob Kleinschmit, of Oshkosh, in a '67 Ford LTD fifth.

The 61ap trophy dash was won by Fox, with Pankratz second and Somers third.

Courtney won the first heat, with Milo VanOudenhoven, in his '69 Plymouth Roadrunner, second and Kleinschmit third.

Pankratz won the second heat, with Fox second and Somers third.

Fast time on the half-mile for the evening was turned by Fox, with a 23-second flat clocking.

In the wild figure-8 event, Kaukauna's Bob VanWyche emerged the winner, after some narrow misses at the center of the X.

The next half-mile event will be held Sunday, with the running of the 150-lap, $6,220 Fire Cracker Classic.

Practice will begin at 10 a.m. with time trials at noon and racing at 2 p.m.

Advance reserved tickets are now on sale for $2.50 at Bob and Patties in Little Chicago, Stumpf Ford in Sherwood, Armored Knight in Manitowoc and at the KK Arena.

Children under 12 will be admitted for $1. Ticket prices the day of the race at the gate will be $3.

Pilots Miss U.S. to Victory at Detroit; 200,000 Fans Watch

DETROIT (AP) — Bill Muncey had another trophy to add to his collection today after sizzling to a come from behind victory in the World Hydroplane meet Sunday.

The 40-year-old Seattle, Wash., driver piloted his Detroit-owned Miss U.S. around the Detroit River course in a thrilling final heat to retain the championship he won at Seattle last year.

Muncey went into the last heat trailing two other Detroit boats, Myr's Special and Miss Schweppes by 100 points, but he outsped them in a sizzling duel for two laps.

Veteran driver Fred Alter, 42, of Detroit, driving Miss Schweppes, and Dean Chenoweth, 32, of Xenia, Ohio, in Myr's Special, got their boats running fairly well again but by that time Muncey was way out in front.

$7,500 Prize

Muncey and Chenoweth each finished the day with 1,100 points but under the rules of the American Power Boating Association, first place and its $7,500 prize money went to the winner of the final heat.

Chenoweth finished in the runner-up spot in the final heat and got $4,900 for his efforts.

A police estimated crowd of 200,000 lined the shores of the Detroit River and Belle Isle.

Pre-race favorite Miss Budweiser ran into trouble in its first minutes on the opening heat.

Bill Sterett, 44, of Owensboro, Ky., was tossed from Miss Budweiser when the craft caught a roller on the third lap. He was catapulted clear of the big speedboat and plucked from the river by a Coast Guard helicopter crew.

Donna Caponi Wins U. S. Women's Open

BY SHEILA MORAN
PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Exuberant Donna Caponi, who surged forward through rain and heat while her rivals wilted, had a feeling she could win the U.S. Women's Open Golf Championship even before she teed off.

"I shot 74-76-75 and thought I was due for a good round," she said Sunday after she nailed down the $5,000 first prize with a 69 for a two-over par 294 and her first tournament victory.

Donna, on the brink of victory after two runnerup finishes in the last three tournaments, shot a 34 in blistering, 108-degree heat on the front nine.

She then weathered a thunderstorm and interruption in play, coming in for a 35 to notch the most prestigious victory in women's golf.

Over $80,000

The victory increased her earnings over the past five years to more than $80,000.

"I still can't believe it," she said over champagne after finishing play over the tight, tree-lined par 73 Scenic Hills Country Club course. "I still can't believe I actually won the Open."

The brown-haired, blue-eyed champion, nicknamed "Watusi Kid" because of her exuberance, surged in from five strokes back going into the final round.

She was challenged until the last shot by Peggy Wilson, who had wanted to win the Open since she dreamed 11 years ago

Hansen Wins Wisconsin Grand Prix

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Minneapolis stock broker Jerry Hansen started from the rear of a 16-car field Sunday in the Wisconsin Grand Prix, but sped to an easy victory in the 17-year-old sports car event.

It was Hansen's fifth consecutive victory in the race. He took the lead on the fifth lap, and finished a half lap ahead of Cliff Apel of Mequon, averaging 87.153 miles an hour over the 1.9-mile State Fair Park course.

Hansen was in a Lola Chevy T-160, and Apel in a McLaren MK3, which developed ignition trouble and made it easier for Hansen.

Third was Richard Daigel of Elk Grove Village, Ill., in a Lotus.

Orioles Place Jim Palmer on Disabled List

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jim Palmer, making a comeback after two seasons of back and shoulder trouble, was placed on the disabled list Sunday by the Baltimore Orioles.

The 23-year-old right-hander, who had compiled a 9-2 record with the red-hot Orioles, is now suffering from a torn muscle in his back.

He has not started a game since June 14, but has relieved twice since then, including two-thirds of an inning Saturday.

KP-Legion Tips First National

KP-Legion scored three runs in the top of the seventh inning to beat First National Bank, 6-4, in a recent Appleton Babe Ruth League game.

John Allan pitched the win. John Sullivan's three singles set the offensive pace for the winners. Dave Hanke was the loser.

Jones and Thomas Sign Giant Contracts

NEW YORK (AP) — Homer Jones, the New York Giants' ace pass catcher, and Aaron Thomas, who is due to move from tight end to flanker, have signed their 1969 contracts with the club.

Jones, 6-2, 216, led the National Football League with an average of 23.5 yards a catch in 1968 when he caught 45 for 1,057 yards and seven touchdowns.

Only a limited schedule was played last week in the Appleton Little League due to rain and poor field conditions.

VFW maintained its lead in the Linwood division by beating Jenkel Oil, 3-2.

Northwest Supply won its ninth and 10th games of the year by blanking Badger Highway and the Post-Crescent. The wins kept Northwest on top in the McKinley Division.

Erk Park Division's leaders, the Fox Sox, split a doubleheader with Northside Advancement, losing the first game 3-0, and taking the second, 13-2.

1. Bahcall beat the Coated Paper twice, 18-3, and 7-0 to stay ahead of runnerup Hennes Truck in the Northside Kiwanis Division. Hennes beat Fox River Paper, 5-3 and 18-6.

Steve Lecker fanned 10 batters in leading Berggren's past Miller Electric, 5-1, and socked a 3-run homer. Kerby Krueger had a triple and two singles in the game.

Doug Schmidt struck out nine in pitching a 4-hitter and was 2-for-2 at the plate in leading VFW to its win over Jenkel Oil. Meltz collected five RBI, including a bases-loaded triple, in 1. Bahcall's 18-3 win over Appleton Coated Paper.

Dave Thiel set 13 batters down on strikes in pacing NW Supply past the Post-Crescent, 1-0. Mike Ferris fanned 10 and Dick Boya was 3-for-3 at the plate in leading the Police Department over Badger Highway, 6-2.

'Starting to Hit Again' Saffell Lauds Foxes For Winning 'Must' Games in First Half

BY RON WITT

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

His team isn't a champion yet. It blew a 4½-game lead the last two weeks of the race and had to be satisfied with a tie (momentarily) with Quad Cities.

But Appleton Foxes manager Tom Saffell was still quite pleased that the club was able to shake its slump against Wisconsin Rapids in two crucial road victories over the weekend. And he said so, relaxing before a scheduled doubleheader at Goodland Field Sunday night.

"We had a real bad spell on the road," he recalled. "It was kind of rough losing seven of eight on the last trip and six of nine before that."

"But the boys did a real good job in winning the ballgames we had to. I think we're starting to hit again."

Reflecting on his club's performance the first half, Saffell said: "We got off to an awful good start hitting, but then we started to slip a little."

Begin Sliding

As the spring went on, the pitchers in the league started to improve and consequently Foxes' averages began sliding, Saffell emphasized.

The Foxes' pilot also cited a psychological factor that may have helped throw the Foxes' hitters off in their concentration.

5th Straight Championship For Toomey

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Olympic champion Bill Toomey, who won his fifth consecutive National AAU decathlon championship here, will be the key performer for the United States team when it meets the Russians in Los Angeles July 18-19.

Toomey, an ex-Stanford star from Santa Barbara, Calif., fell short in his bid for 8,000 points because of long pole vault competition and a virus.

He ran up 7,818 points, well ahead of Rick Sloan of Fullerton, Calif., who tallied 7,465 in the two-day, 10-event competition for the two places on the American team.

Milt Schmidt Signs Second 2-Year Pact

BOSTON (AP) — General Manager Milt Schmidt has signed his second straight two-year contract with the Boston Bruins, the National Hockey League club announced Saturday.

"better than I thought it would be," Schmidt said.

Also coming in for plaudits was new third baseman Glenn Redmon. The University of Michigan product "has really gotten off to a great start," according to Saffell.

Redmon rapped a 3-run homer in his second appearance at the plate for the Foxes. After Sunday night's game against Burlington, he had six hits in 13 at bats. "He's alert, determined, and he comes to play," Saffell observed.

Lauds Eddy, Johnson

Saffell also had praise for his two top starters, Don Eddy and Bart Johnson, who received credit for the wins at Rapids.

"We've been getting good pitching all along from them," he noted, adding "it's much ed his 24th homer and Unser hit his fourth.

Jackson's homer, which left him one short of Babe Ruth's record as the only player ever to hit 30 homers before July 1, gave Oakland a 3-3 tie in its second game. Jackson, who singled in an earlier run, also scored the decisive tally on Danny Carter's single in the eighth inning after hitting into a force out in his last at bat in June—Oakland is idle today.

Jim Hunter, 5-6, scattered seven hits and drove in one run with a sacrifice fly and the winning run with a single in the first game.

Mike Fiore's three-run homer and a two-run belt by Bob Oliver backed Wally Bunker as Kansas City beat Minnesota. But then Oliva, who had three singles in the first game, took over.

He bashed two homers for five runs and drove in a double and two singles as Jim Kaat, 8-6, breezed with a seven-hitter.

The Yankees overcame a 2-0 deficit in their nightcap as Gene Michael doubled in two runs and Billy Cowan slugged a pinch-hit two-run homer for four runs in the fourth inning.

Luis Tiant, 6-8, cruised in the opener with a seven-hitter with Ken Harrelson hitting a two-run homer.

Jay Johnstone drove in four runs with three singles and Rich Reichardt tripled for two more and was hit by a pitch with the bases loaded for another in California's victory.

We Are a Separate Air Market

Confusion and inconvenience now experienced by airline passengers flying into the Outagamie County Airport should be reason enough for the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) to approve a petition to separate the Appleton-Oshkosh air market.

The petition, which has been filed by the City of Appleton, Outagamie County and the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce, has met with opposition from North Central Airlines and the Oshkosh Chamber of Commerce.

Hopefully the CAB will ignore the opposition which wants to see North Central through the Winnebago County Airport, south of Oshkosh, be the official certified air carrier for a major market which it no longer serves.

Airline guides now have a notation to "see Oshkosh" where Appleton is listed. In other words, if an airline passenger in New York wants to fly to Appleton, an airline clerk routes the passenger to a Midwest airport where he transfers to a North Central flight which takes him to Oshkosh, he must take a long and expensive ride in an airport limousine from the south side of Oshkosh to some distant point in the Fox Cities.

Appleton interests want the Fox Cities air market completely separated from Oshkosh so that passengers bound for the Fox Cities get quicker and more convenient service on Air Wisconsin through the more convenient Outagamie County Airport.

The controversy over the regional airport location for North Central, which existed several years ago, has ended. The Oshkosh area gets good service at the Winnebago airport from North Central and the Fox Cities have excellent service at the Outagamie airport from Air Wisconsin. Separating the market so that Appleton stands alone in airline guide listings won't affect service at either airport; it will only mean that the CAB recognizes that the situation of five years ago no longer exists.

There's one more reason why the CAB should support the Appleton petition.

Since North Central is now the official certificated service for "Oshkosh-Appleton," that airline is the only certificated feeder or trunk airline which is allowed to serve either the Oshkosh or the Appleton airports. Since Oshkosh and the Fox Cities are separate air markets, in fact if not on the CAB books, it seems unreasonable that North Central should be the only certificated carrier allowed to serve either airport.

If the market is separated, it will give another certificated carrier such as Ozark Airlines the legal right to apply to the CAB for the authority to service the Fox Cities market. It is unjust for North Central to have that exclusive right when it only serves Oshkosh.

Subsidies and Private Colleges

Probably the observant citizens of Wisconsin will view with mixed feelings the proposal of President Bernard S. Adams of Ripon college that the private and independent colleges and universities of Wisconsin be encouraged to recruit more of their enrollments from lower and middle income families through the device of higher state grants to the neediest of such students.

Dr. Adams is the new president of a state association of private institutions of higher education in Wisconsin which a few years ago persuaded the legislature to write a law authorizing grants of up to $500 a year for needy and worthy students who prefer matriculation at private schools over enrollment at one of the state-supported universities.

Now his association wants the legislature to raise that maximum annual grant to $800, and is actively pursuing that goal as the difficult state budget deliberations grind to a decision at Madison.

With many others in Wisconsin, we firmly believe that all reasonable steps must be taken to preserve the private college in Wisconsin and in America, to provide an educational "mix," and perhaps more important, to assure a yardstick for the measurement of the performance of the public institutions using the tax dollars of all citizens whether they benefit directly or not.

Sending a child to college is an increasingly burdensome experience for the parents. Perhaps it is unrealistic, remembering today's college costs, to expect that any significant number of boys and girls from low income families will enroll at the private schools, even if the $800 a year state grant is authorized, which at the moment is highly uncertain.

But even the middle income family as "middle income" is calculated today finds a frighteningly costly experience, often involving heavy debt, as well as deprivation for the mothers and fathers. One of the reasons is that the burden of taxation has become so great, and the taxation in the form of inflation has become so heavy. One of the reasons for the high tax budget of the middle income family is the invention of new forms of governmental expenditure every time the state legislature or the Congress convene, including the proposals for tax-financed grants to students in private colleges and pupils in private elementary and high schools. It is one of the classic dilemmas of the times.

We were intrigued, in passing, by Dr. Adams' assertion that the state is now subsidizing students in the state-operated universities at a rate of more than $1,000 yearly. That estimate is far out of line with the testimony of per student costs of the officers of those institutions, and might be worth pursuing by the legislature as it currently wrestles with the highest state budget, by far, ever to be presented.

The Threat to Academic Freedom

There has been an expected reaction to the campus confrontations of the last year. Donations have fallen off, state legislatures and Congress are offering repressive bills to curb disorders, parents are trying to demand the restoration of discarded regulations.

But there are some glimmers of calm and intelligent observation and advice.

Sidney Hook, professor of philosophy at New York State University who some time ago carefully spelled out the difference between heresy and conspiracy when fear of communism was at its height in this country, has written in firm criticism of some faculty actions in the face of student demonstrations and riots. The activities which deny students the opportunity for study and faculties the opportunity to teach cannot be allowed, he says. "This will definitely spell the end of academic freedom. If the faculties of this country do not organize themselves now to resist this mass assault against the principles of academic freedom, the end result will be the politicalization of the American university in the style of the universities of Asia and South America, many of which have been politicalized to a point where little study actually takes place. . . . The great irony is that American faculties often condemned German faculties that refused to stand up to those who trampled on academic freedom when resistance, might have meant the loss of their lives and those of their families. But, in the United States — confronted with a threat that doesn't begin to compare in seriousness with the threat of totalitarianism — faculty members have yielded in the hope that, if they gave the students what they demanded, the students would be 'reasonable'."

Professor Hook sees a great deal of progress in civil and human rights in this country and argues that the refusal of some student to have anything to do with the Establishment because it is in some respect always hypocritical ignores the hard fact that all injustices cannot be abolished overnight. "Freedom and self-respect are nonnegotiable," he writes, and obviously that must include the freedom and self-respect of those who may not be in agreement with the more extreme protesters.

Undoubtedly a major reason for the concern among adults about college youth is a nagging sense of guilt. As Esther Raushenbush, retiring president of Sarah Lawrence, has pointed out, we have failed to accomplish integration. "We've talked a great deal about equal education for everyone, and we haven't begun to do it. . . . As adults we have been inconsistent. In the upper-middle class, children were encouraged to make use of the enlarged opportunities for choice. Yet when we came to the matter of choice in sensitive issues we wanted them to take our word, rest on our authority. We can't have it both ways."

There are the extremists who would destroy but are not very sure what they would build in the ruins and they must be confronted. But there are also the college students — the majority we would like to believe — who have been turned on by the inequalities, the discriminations, a war into which we aimlessly drifted, who want to build a better society and are not at all sure their elders did all they could in that direction.

It was a lot more comfortable in the 1950's with the apathetic generation. But those were also the years when opportunities for betterment were overlooked, when faculties sought research and neglected teaching, when administrators were more interested in finding donors than in reviewing what was happening on the campuses. The demonstrations have shaken up a lot of people and legislators should take note that it was long past due.

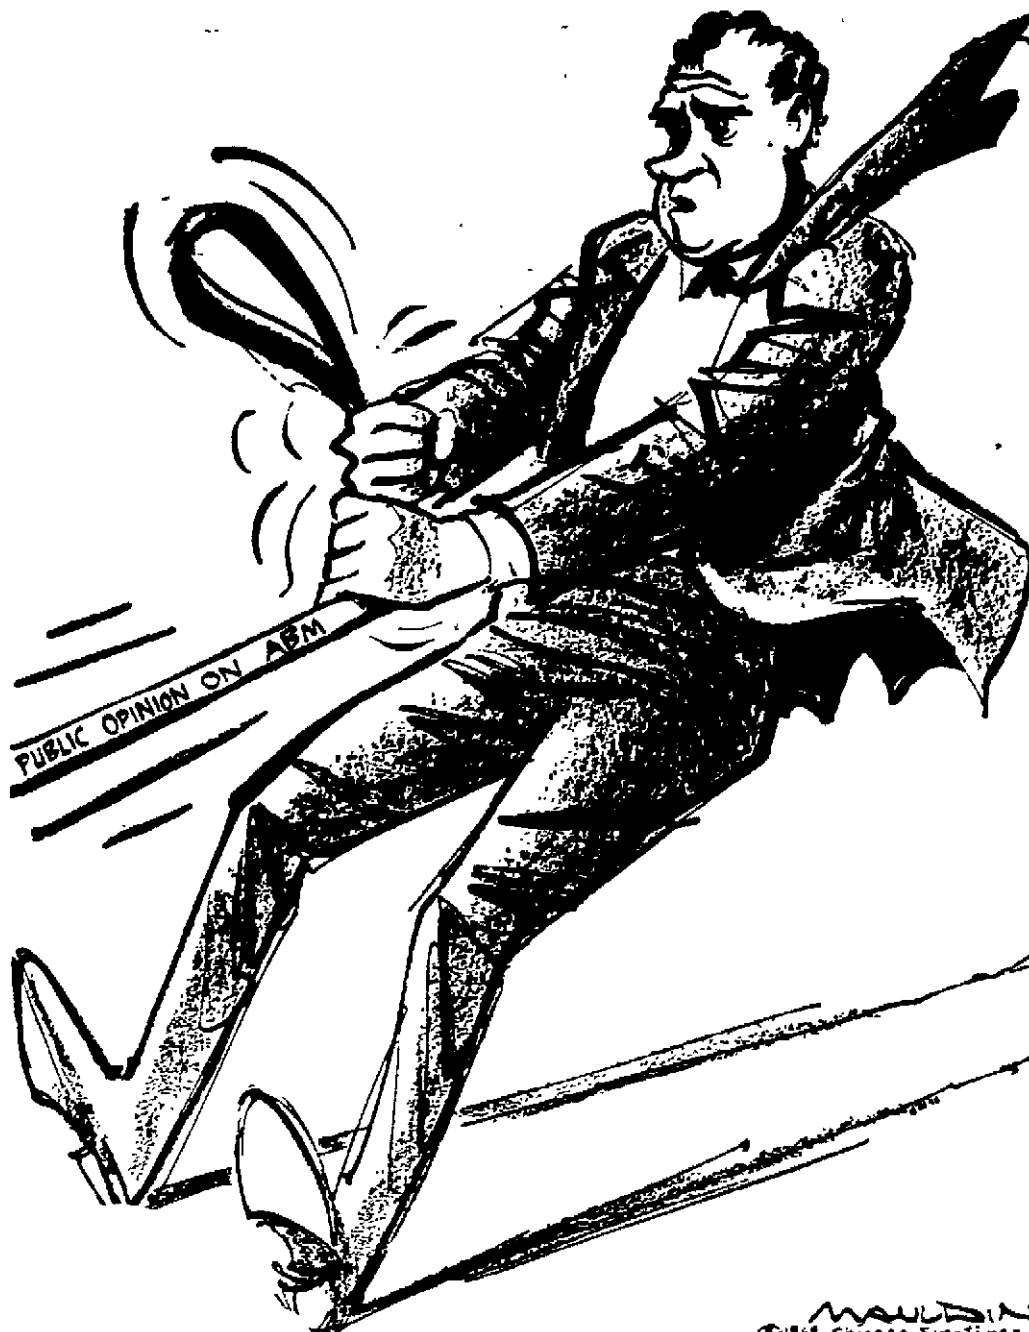

Building Rusty Bridges

A bulletin of the National Highway Users Conference informs us of the intriguing discovery by bridge engineers in neighboring Michigan of a scheme for deliberately building bridges supported by rusty steel, and that their unique plan is being copied around the world.

The conventional bridge, as all of us know, is painted and repainted regularly. The cost is considerable. And there is a hazard for the workmen, and inconvenience for the motorist who passes while they are at work.

But these new rusty bridges are designed to avoid the need for painting. Made of a special steel, they develop a thin skin of iron oxide that has the capacity to resist permanently any of the usual ravages of nature. The oxide doesn't flake or rub off, and it resists rust penetration so that the structure is not weakened. As a final recommendation, the oxide is at least as attractive as most of the paints used by the orthodox bridge maintenance men.

Kraft Writes

Vietcong Took Great Opportunity To Form Provisional Government

By JOSEPH KRAFT

PARIS — "The formation of the Provisional Revolutionary Government is the political equivalent of the Tet offensive of last year."

That comment was made by Tran Buu Kiem, the chief peace negotiator for the National Liberation Front or Vietcong, in an interview given before he left Paris to take up his duties in the provisional government which has been established by the Front. And abundant signs indicate that his remark was much more than mere propaganda.

The metamorphosis of the Liberation Front into a Provisional Revolutionary Government is in fact a major event. It has a bearing not only on the dwindling chances for peace with the United States, but even more on relations inside the Communist world.

To grasp this last point, it is necessary to realize that the Liberation Front has been talking about becoming a provisional government for at least three or four years. It was inhibited from making the change by two considerations.

GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY

First, North Vietnam was not enthusiastic because creation of a provisional government for South Vietnam emphasizes the separation between the two Vietnams and thus thickens the barrier to unification. Additionally, there was the fear that the provisional government might be so little recognized in the rest of the world as to be a laughing stock. In particular, Front leaders thought that Communist China might seek to take over the recognition process, thus queering the chances for recognition by Russia.

A golden opportunity to break through the recognition barrier, however, was offered by the convoking of a world meeting of Communist parties in Moscow on June 5. For in calling the meeting, Russia was doubly on the defensive.

Moscow had been charged by Communist parties in China and North Korea and by radical governments in Cuba, Syria, and Algeria with insufficient zeal for revolutionary activities. Moscow had also been charged, chiefly by Romania and Yugoslavia, with insufficient sensitivity to local requirements. Thus, at the moment of the Moscow conference, the Russians were especially on their mettle to prove how willing they were to underwrite local revolutionary movements.

The Liberation Front took advantage of that situation in the most shameless manner. On June 6 — one day after the Moscow meeting began — the Front convoked a special congress somewhere in South Vietnam. In the next few days, the Front — though it had not sent so much as an observer to the Moscow conference — sent special representatives to three countries with a particular purchase on the Russians — Cuba, Algeria, and Romania.

On June 10, in the very midst of the Moscow conference, the congress of the Front announced that it was setting up the Provisional Revolutionary Government. Recognition for the new regime came almost immediately from both the leading hardliners — Cuba, Algeria, Syria, North Korea — and the leading softliners (Romania and Yugoslavia) in the world of revolutionary governments.

HAD TO GO ALONG

Russia, trying to win the support of both groups and in the very act of framing a conference resolution for support of the struggle in Vietnam, had to recognize Communist China, instead of looking like the sole sponsor of the new regime, actually followed the Soviet lead. North Vietnam inevitably went along with the two Communist giants. And within a matter of days, the Provisional Revolutionary Government was recognized by a score of countries with a considerable share of the world's population.

The upshot of all this is that the hard guys who made up the Front and now comprise the Provisional Revolutionary Government have acquired influence in the Communist world as never before. More moderate outsiders — whether in Moscow or in Hanoi — have to pay greater attention to the original makers of the insurrection.

As Tran Buu Kiem put it to me in a statement that, given what it says about the past, breathes unusual candor: "We are not now just some vague movement that can be pushed aside. We are a real government recognized by a large part of the world. That means an increase in our military and economic assistance. It also means an increase in our political standing."

The increased influence of the hard-core insurrectionaries has an obvious bearing on the Vietnamese peace talks. And that matter will be the subject of the forthcoming column. But one preliminary point is obvious.

The United States can negotiate effectively only if it has a good feel for the other side — particularly for the provisional government. In that respect there is nothing encouraging in the statement by President Nixon at his last press conference that the change from front to provisional government is "simply another name for the same activity." On the contrary, that statement is simply further evidence that the Vietnamese war continues to have as its special property an astonishing sense of men produce judgements that are optimistic to the point of being absurd.

Wisconsin Report

State Bar President Pleads for Revised Probate Court Code

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The stature of John C. Wickhem of Janesville in the profession of law which has been a tradition in his distinguished family is attested by his election as president of the State Bar of Wisconsin, one of the coveted honors won by only a handful of men.

The stature of John Wickhem as a man of good sense, with a keen eye and ear for what is going on around him of concern to the people as well as to the 6,000 lawyers in the state was shown by his message to the bar at its annual convention and his candid discussion of the public attitude toward lawyers and the estate probate process.

Mr. Wickhem said the bar must not only persuade the legislature to enact into law the revised probate code worked out after considerable labor during the last legislative interim by a committee of specialists.

MUST TELL STORY

The professional society must also "find means to combat the suspicion some have of lawyers and present a clear picture of the roles of lawyers and courts in probate administrative, as one news account put it.

Mr. Wickhem was putting it mildly, as perhaps suited the of my adult years are lawyers. I like politicians, and a large proportion of them are lawyers. Some of my relatives are lawyers. In my professional life, I probably consult lawyers as frequently as any reporter in Wisconsin.

But the public indignation about the probate process and its complexities, and the public's resentment about the sizeable slice of inheritances collected by probate lawyers, real or fancied, is a clear and present danger, as the lawyer put it, to the stature if the profession in Wisconsin and Mr. Wickhem in his gentlemanly way was quite obviously warning about it.

Letters to the editor, letters to legislators, the publicity harvest of an otherwise obscure member of the legislature who has launched a one man crusade for probate law improvements, these and other items of evidence cannot be safely ignored by the bar, if its members are as prudent about their affairs as they advise their clients to be.

TRIAL EFFORT

Lawyers evidently know that something is in the wind politically, for the probate law recodification committee has brought in a plan for summary proceedings to cover small estates — those of $20,000 and less. The authors explain that according to experience the figure may be amended upward later. Simultaneously, the state bar bulletin discloses that a re-evaluation of the minimum fee schedule recommended to its member practitioners, including probate fees, is now being studied and that lawyers will be polled soon on the economics of their practice as a part of that reappraisal.

The bar would be making a serious error in underestimating the sophistication of the public in these matters. It is a commonplace that many lawyers, count on estate probate earnings as the most lucrative in their business. Judges have been known to be critical of the situation, although privately of course. There is an increasing impatience among the laity in the legislature about the indifference of many of the lawyer members there, who represent by far the most numerous occupational class, toward public dissatisfaction about probate procedures and costs.

Wyngaard

occasion for his remarks.

Beyond much doubt, there is today no public question involving the lawyer, on the one hand, and the courts, on the other, that has aroused more interest and skepticism and frequently outright hostility toward lawyers and judges than the Administration of probate and its seemingly excessive technical requirements and high costs.

This reporter hastens to assert that he bears no ill will toward lawyers.

Most of my best friends at college became lawyers, and are now distributed around the state. Many of the best friends

Theater Today Is All Form and No Content

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Imagine a large and talented group of engineers constructing the Panama Canal, with all its marvelous mechanical devices, its dams and levers and locks — and then using it to float a little paper boat from one ocean to the other.

Early this spring, I went to New York for a week to see some of the new plays, on a highly selective basis. This experience — as it does every year — reminded me of a paper boat going through the Panama Canal.

Broadway, as it is still erroneously called, is the largest waste of concentrated talent in the world. It has thousands of immensely gifted actors and actresses, directors, scene designers, lighting expert, production geniuses — and the net result of their mighty labors has the total content of a decayed walnut.

Of the eight plays I saw in that week, all were superb technical achievements. The acting was magnificent, the direction imaginative, the settings impressive. And all these Herculean efforts were designed to camouflage the fact that the emperor was wearing no clothes. The plays themselves were naked nothings.

Mary Kay Simon and Marilyn Moehring, all of Appleton.

Mrs. Ralph Grobe, president, and Mrs. Thomas Dietrich were members of the Appleton Chapter of the American Association of University Women attending the national convention in Kansas City.

Leaving that weekend for a month's tour of Europe and attendance at the International Congress of Business and Professional Women in Paris were Mrs. Martha Loss, of the New London club; Milson Schultz, and the Misses Alice and Lorinda Tews, all of Neenah and members of the Twin Cities club, and Miss Margaret Laird, of the Appleton BPW club.

The public may not know this (some tickets were selling for $40 a pair), but the professionals in the theater are painfully aware that they are living and working far beneath themselves. It is comparable to Heifetz being asked to play "Three Blind Mice," or Gropius being commissioned to construct a 100-story sky-

One of the real artistic tragedies of our time is that so much real talent is going to waste in the performing arts because our level of creativity is so low and barren. For every good play that a great actor gets a whack at, he must perform in a dozen mediocre ones, in order to eat and to keep in technical practice.

Millions upon millions are squandered in these foolish and trivial enterprises, while at the same time our nation has no repertory theater, no training ground for performers, no program for encouraging new playwrights, no way of harnessing these tremendous talents to projects that are worthy of their abilities, their aims, and their hopes.

It is all form and no content, all package and no product. "If a thing isn't worth doing," Chesterton once said, "it isn't worth doing well." Ninety per cent of the commercial theater isn't worth doing, but it is done superbly well — leaving no funds, no energy, and no incentive for doing the things that are worth doing, and encouraging those who are capable of weaving royal raiment for the emperor.

Boating Seems Popular This Year

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for July 3, 1869.

Since the decline in the velocipede mania, which fever raged so vigorously in town last spring, and as base ball stock is so low that its revival this season seems doubtful, the attention of many of our pleasure loving young men has been directed to boating.

It is said that some good sport is enjoyed on the river now in racing and rowing. The latter is especially pleasant on afternoons and evenings. The boats are all below the dam in the First Ward.

We expect to be able to chronicle some fast time there when the College boys shall have built their proposed clipper.

Police Win Gun Battle With Suspect

Marshfield Man Wounded in Exchange Near Morgan School

Charges of attempted first degree murder, armed robbery, and carrying a concealed weapon were filed today against a 21-year-old Marshfield man wounded in a gun battle with Appleton police Sunday.

However, it may be more than a week before Jeffery C. Nelson is well enough to be arraigned on the three counts.

Nelson is under police guard at St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was taken about 2:20 a.m. Sunday with a bullet wound in the neck. He is in fair condition.

Nelson — who weighs more than 300 pounds — was felled by a police bullet following a five-minute gun battle outside Morgan School. No policemen were injured.

The unemployed Marshfield man exchanged gunfire with eight policemen minutes after he disarmed two patrolmen at gunpoint, police said.

Police gave this account:

At 1:55 a.m. Patrolmen Henry Yunk, 24, a beatwalker, and Patrolman Ronald Tauber, 36, a cruiser driver, met near a beer depot in the 500 block of N. Oneida Street. Yunk had just checked out the building, which was closed. The policemen were conferring when they observed a man walk from behind the beer depot about 2:05 a.m.

Yunk and Tauber stopped the man, who identified himself as Nelson. He said he had been staying with a friend on S. Mason Street, but he added that he intended to return to Marshfield by bus Sunday.

Not Satisfied
The patrolmen, feeling that Nelson could give no satisfactory reason for being behind the beer depot, told him they were going to take him to the detective bureau for further questioning.

Nelson then pulled a gun from under his jacket, pointed it at the two officers, and ordered them not to move.

On Nelson's orders, Yunk and Tauber removed their gun belts and kicked them toward him. Nelson then picked up the weapons and walked south on Oneida Street. (The taking of the policemen's guns brought the armed robbery charge.)

The disarmed patrolmen radioed for help and all available squad cars were dispatched to the scene.

Nelson was first seen running toward Morgan School, a block east of the beer depot.

More Police Arrive

The first officers to arrive at the scene said they were met by gunfire. Nelson reportedly was hiding behind a large tree at the northeast corner of the school.

House Set for Crucial Surtax Extension Vote

Opponents Insist on Reform Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican political arithmetic is pointing toward House approval of President Nixon's proposed surtax extension, but party discipline must hold and supporters concede their margin is narrow.

The extension bill, facing a crucial House test today, has Democratic as well as Republican leaders supporting it. But a large block of Democrats has opposed any long extension until the broader issue of tax reform has been settled. The final House vote was expected by this evening.

Nixon forces have given top priority to extending the surtax at 10 per cent through Dec. 31 and then at 5 per cent through June 30, 1970 as part of the administration's anti-inflation moves.

House passage doesn't assure the extension since Senate Democrats are determined to write some meaningful tax-law changes. They call it closing loopholes, and insist the people back home won't stand for any delay.

$6.3 Billion Surplus
Passage of the surtax at Nixon's proposed level would bring in an estimated $7.64 billion in the first year and contribute to a $6.3 billion surplus in the unified government budget.

The administration contends such a surplus is desperately needed to dampen inflation, reduce the government's competition for scarce credit and bolster confidence in the dollar abroad.

If Congress fails to approve, an administration spokesman predicted, the psychological effect would be devastating—more inflation with businesses and individuals rushing to buy and borrow, thus feeding the inflation.

The opposition contends the surtax has not been effective against inflation.

Democratic liberals argued, moreover, unless the surtax is tied closely to substantial tax reforms, the chance to ram these through the present Congress may be lost. If the reforms are not written directly into the bill, they said, the extension should be held to a few months while a reform package is worked out.

Storm warnings already are up in the Senate.

3 Children Helpless as Parents Die

HUTISFORD (AP) — Three children struggled in vain Sunday to save their parents as a boat the Saukville family was using on an outing drifted out of reach of the couple.

Harland Dybedahl, 37, who had fallen into Lake Winnebago when he stood up in the boat, and his 32-year-old wife, Mary, drowned before the eyes of their young-esters.

Dodge County authorities said Mrs. Dybedahl leaped into the water to assist her husband after the boat began drifting.

As wind pushed the boat beyond the couple's reach, the three youngsters in the boat, aged 5, 7 and 11, began throwing life preservers to their parents. None fell close enough.

The family had been camping on Radloff Island. Other campers heard the cries of the children, and went to the assistance of the survivors.

Pressure Eases on Ben Het

SAIGON (AP)—Seven battalions of fresh South Vietnamese troops launched a new drive around Ben Het during the weekend, government headquarters announced today. It followed a 20-day sweep in which government soldiers claimed killing 254 North Vietnamese.

The first operation was launched June 8 and ended Saturday. Spokesmen said it was centered 6 miles south of the Special Forces camp in the Central Highlands and they reported 21 South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 107 wounded.

Government headquarters said about 25 per cent of the enemy dead were killed by massive American air and artillery strikes.

Spokesmen said the battalions participating in the new drive—named "Will Win"—were flown in by helicopter from other bases in the Central Highlands to replace battle-weary troops.

So far they have reported no significant contact with the enemy, but North Vietnamese gun-

ners hit one of their night camps with 50 rockets and mortar shells Sunday night.

Field reports said one South Vietnamese soldier was killed and one was wounded. They indicated the North Vietnamese troops got within 100 yards of the camp but launched no ground assault and were driven off by U.S. planes and artillery.

Meanwhile, North Vietnamese gunners eased pressure on Ben Het itself, giving the surrounded camp its calmest weekend since May 1.

U.S. officers at Ben Het estimated that 1,000-3,000 North Vietnamese troops around the camp had pulled back, apparently hurt by the massive U.S. bombing.

Officers said the enemy force estimated at two regiments apparently had pulled out, leaving only small units behind to harass the camp.

Associated Press photographer Oliver Noonan reported from Ben Het that only four mortar rounds landed in the camp today. Enemy gunners disclosed American casualty figures, but by unofficial count about 60 Americans have been killed and another 250 wounded in the campaign.

Air Force tactical fighter-bombers flew 81 sorties — one (flight by one plane—Sunday in support of the Ben Het camp. Spokesmen said it was a record for the past two months.

Spokesmen said the shelling of Ben Het itself dropped off sharply over the weekend. Twenty-five mortar and recoilless rifle shells hit the Special Forces camp Sunday, one of the lightest attacks since it came under daily bombardment early in May.

Two South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and two were wounded.

U.S. B52 bombers kept up around-the-clock strikes on the outskirts of the camp, 280 miles northeast of Saigon. Twelve Stratofortresses dropped 360 tons of explosives on North Vietnamese base camps and bunkers three miles east and three miles southwest of Ben Het.

Only light and scattered action was reported elsewhere in South Vietnam, and the U.S. Command said seven rocket and mortar attacks hit allied bases overnight.

In one of the attacks, Viet Cong gunners fired two 100-pound rockets at the headquarters of the South Vietnamese Airborne Division three miles northwest of Saigon. The rounds landed in a populated area, killing one Vietnamese civilian and wounding nine others, spokesmen said.

Arrives in Argentina

Rocky's Visit Starts Calmly

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — A massive security dragnet sharply curbed political disturbances in this country today as Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller met with national leaders in his quest for a new U.S. approach to Latin America's problems.

Police in the interior city of Tucuman used tear gas to disperse a crowd of young rioters who smashed into a large store and caused damage estimated at $65,000.

This was the only significant incident in the first 12 hours of Rockefeller's 36-hour visit to this politically restless country.

The New York governor met with intellectual and cultural leaders Sunday night and his advisers conferred this morning with educational, agricultural and business representatives.

The governor was to meet later in the day with President Juan Carlos Onganía, the general who took control here three years ago in a coup.

At the heavily guarded Plaza Hotel, where Rockefeller and his aides were staying, security guards carefully searched all visitors.

Rockefeller arrived Sunday in a chartered jet at the international airport outside Buenos Aires, then flew to a downtown airport in a small U.S. Air Force plane because officials did not want to risk a drive to the violence-plagued capital.

After a reception ceremony at the downtown airport, Rockefeller delivered an address stressing the need for unity in the hemisphere.

"We must re-examine the common bonds that bind us together," he said. "It is also important that we recognize the fact that there are forces which would divide us in our common efforts to raise the standards of living of the peoples of the Americas and to achieve respect for human dignity, social justice and individual freedom."

Terrorists and anti-Rockefeller demonstrators began causing trouble in Argentina even before Rockefeller arrived.

In Buenos Aires, police used tear gas to quell a demonstration Sunday and arrested 30 persons. The demonstration followed the funeral of Emilio Jauregui, a Communist leader killed by police during an anti-Rockefeller rally Friday.

Shortly before Rockefeller landed, state-owned gasoline storage tanks in Bahia Blanca, 600 miles south of Buenos Aires, burst into flames.

One bomb exploded in the capital and four went off in La Plata, 30 miles to the south. Bombs had exploded Saturday night in the cities of Mendoza, Rosario and Parana. No serious damages or casualties were reported in any of the blasts.

Rockefeller has visited 14 countries so far on his tour of Latin America as President Nixon's special envoy. After Argentina he will travel to Haiti, the Dominican Republic, Jamaica, Guyana and Barbados.

Communist China blasted the Rockefeller mission today and denounced the governor as the "U.S. imperialist god of plague."

Visit Postponed By Kiesinger

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Kurt George Kiesinger's scheduled August visit to Washington has been postponed because of President Nixon's forthcoming trip to Asia and Romania.

A spokesman for the West German government said Sunday he did not know whether a new date had been agreed on. The visit was to have been made Aug. 4-5.

De Gaulle's Home Isn't Really His Castle

LONDON (AP)—A nephew of former French President Charles de Gaulle says the haughty general is "henpecked and dominated" by his wife, Yvonne.

Alaine de Gaulle wrote in a London magazine that Mrs. de Gaulle once told the general: "You're running France; I'm running the house."

Alaine's article, in the current issue of The People, said Mrs. De Gaulle dilutes her husband's liquor with coffee and has complete control of the family budget.

"The general isn't even allowed to see the account book in which his wife keeps a detailed record of their personal finances," Alaine said. "She

"So jealous is she of her private domain that she has a habit of slipping a hair between the pages of these account books—just to see if any curious person has taken a peep."

Although De Gaulle is a very rich man, the article said, there are no labor-saving devices in his home at Colombey les Deux Eglises.

"There is not even an electric or gas cooker there," Alaine wrote. "All the cooking is still done on an old-fashioned coal range. Nor are there any such things as washing machines or Hoovers—the sort of labor-saving gadgets which, under the De Gaulle regime, became commonplace in French homes."

But even though the general plays "second fiddle" to his wife, said Alaine, "the fact remains that he is very much the patriarch, the tribal chief" of the De Gaulle and Vendoux families and "has always been, for as long as I can remember, the supreme boss of us all."

Valley Officials To Testify on State Budget

Alliance of Cities Calls Meeting in Madison on Bill

Mayors, city managers and aldermen from throughout the Fox Valley and other major cities in Wisconsin will converge on the state capitol at Madison July 11 to testify on the budget bill.

The Alliance of Cities, comprised of 20 of the state's largest urban communities, including Green Bay, Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Manitowish and Sheboygan in the Fox Valley, has called the meeting.

Mayor George Buckley of Appleton, Alliance treasurer and member of the board of directors, said the latest information is the State Assembly will not hold a public hearing on the proposed state budget for about 10 days.

He said Mayor Wallace Burke, Kenosha, Alliance president, has urged all members to keep informed on developments and be prepared to "consolidate their position" when appearing en masse in Madison early next month.

City officials have been urged to bring members of their city councils to the July 11 Alliance meeting at 10:30 a.m.

The State Senate adopted a compromise finance or budget bill recently, which included some of the recommendations of the Tarr Task Force, but Assembly leaders predicted it would be cut considerably.

When the Senate and Assembly cannot agree, the budget bill is assigned to a conference committee comprised of representatives of both houses.

Alliance members have been pushing for revisions in the state aids and tax distribution systems, annexation laws, uniform countywide assessment and several other bills aimed at streamlining government and easing the property tax load.

Thus far, the Wisconsin Legislature has not concurred in any of the key Tarr Task Force recommendations which have been backed by Gov. Warren Knowles, among others.

Lass From Rural Chilton Crowned First Miss Calumet

NEW HOLSTEIN — A pretty 17-year-old hazel-eyed graduate of Stockbridge High School was crowned the first Miss Calumet before a sellout crowd at the Senior High School auditorium here Sunday night under the theme of "Showboat."

Cathy Hemauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hemauer, route 3, Chilton, will reign as the new queen throughout the coming year and will be a contender for the Miss Wisconsin crown in the 1970 pageant at Oshkosh. The pageant was sponsored by Miss Calumet, Inc. Association. Cathy chose as her talent three excerpts from a serious declamation taken from Edgar Allan Poe's "Telltale Heart." For her evening gown competition, she chose a white-crepe sheath, cut with an empire waistline. The bodice was of white lace with a back drape. She wore over-the-shoulder white gloves with shoes to match.

Peacock Swimsuit For her swimming suit competition, she chose a brilliant peacock blue one-piece suit with shoes to match.

As the last five finalists were picked from a field of 13 contestants they were each given a question to answer. Cathy's question was "If you had an opportunity to talk to someone special about a particular matter, who would you choose and why?" Cathy said she felt a great loss after the death of Robert Kennedy whom she felt always understood youth, and she would have liked to talk to him.

Cathy was also picked by her fellow contestants as the Miss Congeniality award winner. As Miss Congeniality she will receive a $25 scholarship and a trophy. As the Miss Calumet queen she will receive a $150 scholarship, trophy, a queen's portrait and her wardrobe for the Miss Wisconsin competition in 1970. She will also be given a course at the John Robert Powers School of Modeling in Milwaukee and other gifts.

College Plans Cathy is 5-foot-6 inches in height, has brown hair and weighs 129 pounds. She includes swimming, skiing and riding as her hobbies and after graduation from Stockbridge High School in 1970, will attend La Crosse State University.

First runnerup was Mary Stumpf, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Stumpf of Sherwood. Mary played the guitar and sang two folk songs as her talent. She will receive a $75 scholarship.

Towns to Consider Joining Waupaca to Create COG

Farmington, Dayton Decisions Near

Speeder Pleads Guilty to 3 Auto Offenses

Former New London Man Faces Federal Car Theft Charges

WAUPACA — On a charge of plea James L. Rowe, 22, formerly of New London, pleaded guilty in Municipal Justice Court to charges of speeding, attempting to elude a policeman and operating a vehicle while his license was revoked.

He was fined $200 plus costs of 30 days in jail on the first charge; $300 plus costs, or 6 months on the second charge; and six months on the third charge. Judge George Whalen ordered that the sentences were to be concurrent.

Rowe was returned to the county jail where he has been since June 21, when he pleaded innocent to the charges. On Saturday, he was picked up by a federal marshal and taken to federal court, Milwaukee to answer a charge of transporting a stolen car across a state line.

Last May, Rowe led the State highway patrol in a high-speed chase for 10 minutes until his engine exploded. The car he was using allegedly came from a parking lot in Illinois.

If Rowe pleads guilty, the federal charge will have precedence over the local sentence.

No Applications For Fire Chief Of New London

NEW LONDON — No applications for fire chief have been received by City Clerk Melva Rickaby.

Deadline for turning in letters of interest for the position is today.

It is believed the police and fire commission will review any letters, and then have interested persons in for personal interviews.

Chief Robert 'Bucky' Besaw and assistant Joseph Timar have resigned their posts because of personal reasons. The resignations are effective today. Ruben Voss, chief engineer, has been named by the commission to act as head of the fire department beginning Tuesday.

WAUPACA — Action will be taken by the Towns of Dayton and Farmington within the next two weeks to formally declare themselves into the Council of Governments or to turn down the idea.

The measure of the enthusiasm to join the City of Waupaca in forming an area council, a matter which has been hanging fire since early April when the city council made the initial move to form the area council, is from "indifference" to "bright enthusiasm."

Following two public information meetings in the Town of Dayton and the Town of Farmington, which had 30 interested townspeople at the first and only five town residents at the second, there have been independent efforts to further inform and encourage affiliation.

Good Meeting "We had a good meeting," confided Walter Ciura, chairman of the Town of Dayton. "Everyone had a chance to speak and the majority felt that some planning was certainly needed and COG was the most economical way to go about it." A formal vote will be taken at the Town of Dayton meeting at 7:30 p.m. July 2, according to Ciura.

Farmington's chairman Fred Jensen said he was disappointed at the small number of people who showed up at that town's information meeting. "The people you would expect to be there and who were advised that men would be there to answer questions for them, didn't show up. So, then, what do you do?"

The Town of Farmington meets at 7:30 p.m. July 14, at the amusement hall, King.

Ray Hemmingson, a member of the Farmington Town Board, the Waupaca County Board, and a strong proponent of affiliation with COG for future planning, pointed out Friday the importance of the right decision for the residents of the area.

Seawage Concern "Planning is certainly needed. One immediate concern should be planning for sewage disposal in the total Chain O'Lakes area," he began.

"This is already a problem in such locations as Taylor Lake, part of Nessing and McCrossen, where the property is pretty much at lake level. The time already has passed when this area could make plans to tie into the sewage disposal plant now under construction at King for the Grand Army Home. Those plans were made for the 1,500 maximum capacity of the Home and is being built for that number. Towns people should have acted on that five years, with the City of Waupaca to form an area council. It is the wish of the town boards to have the residents decide, but the boards themselves are empowered under the law to declare their units of government an official part of the council.

One citizen proposed that a referendum be held to get the "sentiment of the people." It was pointed out, that the cost of a referendum would almost equal the cost of affiliation.

The Towns of Land and Waupaca, contiguous to the city, could vote to join with Waupaca to form an area council. No such action has been reported.

New London City Projects Slowed By Heavy Rainfall

Sewer Work Seriously Affected; Curbs, Gutters Are Not Delayed

NEW LONDON — A slow-down in scheduled city projects resulted last week because of rain.

Ray Pelishek, public works director, said scheduled sewer work was most affected by the weather, while curb and gutter installation progressed satisfactorily.

Werner-Allen Road curb and gutter and putting in a new base for a road will be concluded early this week. Crews will then shift their attention to Jennings Street around the Parkway Elementary School.

Curb and Gutter Martin Brothers, Clintonville, will begin curb and gutter installation on Lima Street, from North Water to Waupaca streets during the week.

Martin's is under contract for curb and gutter and sidewalk installation by the city.

Leages Construction Co., Waukesha, was to begin the $195,000 storm sewer installation in the southeast portion of the city last week, but had the starting schedule altered by the weather.

The storm program is in an area east of Mill Street, from Douglas Street to the Wolf River.

Little Flooding Very little flooding resulted last week, even with just less than three inches of rain on Wednesday and Thursday.

Some streets were filled with water temporarily because catch basins were unable to handle the flow.

Strong winds blew several branches off trees and street department personnel picked up the major debris immediately after the storms.

Driver Gets Bump, Passenger Cut in Rear-End Crash

NEW LONDON — Two persons received minor injuries in a rear-end collision at 12:40 a.m. Saturday at Spring and Wyman streets.

Michele E. Boehm, 17, 1104 Smith St., driver of one of the cars received bumps, while James H. Bessette, 21, route 1, Bear Creek, a passenger in the other car was treated for lacerations of the forehead at Community Hospital.

According to police, the Boehm vehicle was traveling west on Spring Street and had stopped for an arterial when it was struck in the rear by a car driven by Richard A. Hoskins, 31, 1604 S. Pearl St., which could not stop.

Damage to the vehicles was in excess of $100.

The volunteer rescue squad from Irving M. Herman, office of appeals director for the Hughes, 54, 157 N. Main St., National Labor Relations Board died here Saturday of an apparent heart attack.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

The Heuer-Sievers and Koepf settled, that the association's pen Funeral Home, Clintonville, is in charge of funeral arrangements.

However, he said the union's action appeared to be in violation of the labor act but added that the conduct complained of is already covered by an order against the Teamsters in a recent case, and any further proceedings would not serve a useful statutory purpose.

Reunion Plans Set NEW LONDON — The 33rd Na-Krueger Boelter Family reunion will be at noon July 6 at Lanwood Park, Appleton. Officers are Robert Wendt, there will be no German service on July 13. The Rev. John Dahlke, local pastor, will be on vacation during part of July.

Alcoholism Treatment Center Moving Into New Quarters

Winnebago State Hospital Unit Had Outgrown Present Facilities

WINNEBAGO — The Alcoholism Treatment Unit at Winnebago State Hospital is moving into new quarters this week, taking over approximately one-half of Gordon Hall, built in 1964 for geriatric patients.

The unit will have 100 beds. It had outgrown the space it occupied on two wards in Hughes Hall for the past two years.

There are a number of factors which dictate the move, according to a spokesman from the administration.

Admissions to the unit have risen from 10 per cent of the hospital's total admissions in 1965, the year a separate unit for inebriates was established, to 27 per cent of total admissions in 1967-68. There were 558 admissions to the unit in 1967-68.

Approximately 20 per cent of the admissions this past year have been female, a figure which has doubled in the past year, since females were directly admitted to the unit for treatment.

The past three months, admissions have averaged 75 persons to the unit. Treatment has become more individualized and two research programs are in motion.

The effects of the hospital's approach to alcoholism treatment during the past four years is becoming more widely known among physicians, law enforcement people and social service workers.

Treatments' Effectiveness There is encouragement in the fact that the past year's treatment program has proven effective for 25 per cent of all men and women admitted to the unit. The staff is geared to doubling this figure next year.

The recent tally shows that 10 per cent of the patients treated have returned to their homes and do not drink the 15 per cent have done some limited "experimenting."

The hospital's educational program has made inroads toward changing the attitude of "Who wants to bother with a drunk?"

The position of Supt. Darold Treffert that if the alcoholic is not taken care of in his own community, by his own family physician and treated for his illness in a local facility — the state hospital will take care of the alcoholic. For the past year he has worked within the medical profession and with civic groups to present the need for local treatment and referral care, which he points out would be at considerably less expense and also more effective for the patient.

Mercy Hospital Easy access to the state hospital has through the years made it easy for Oshkosh area residents to be referred there for treatment of alcoholism. At the end of an 18 month county-wide effort to obtain the cooperation of local facilities by a county and citizen alcoholism committee, the medical staff at Mercy Hospital elected last week to turn down its proposed role as a detoxification center and not be a part of any full range of services for the alcoholic in Winnebago County.

Dr. Mary Kubiak assumes her duties as chief of the alcoholism treatment unit on July 1. Dr. Walter Kracen, who joined the medical staff on June 22, is assigned full time to the unit.

Dr. Rahmat Self, who came to the staff at the same time, has been assigned half-time to the unit.

Mystery Man To Promote Wolf Festival

NEW LONDON — A "mystery customer" will promote the Wolf City Festival in a reverse manner during July.

Everyday a different mystery person will visit New London businesses. The person will be checking on various activities of business people in support of the July 19-20 program.

If the customer finds every employee in a store wearing a "Wolf City Festival" button, the store will be designated Civic Business of the Day and will be announced over area radio stations.

The mystery customer will be distinguishable because he will not be wearing a button. Any person asking the mystery customer to purchase a button will receive $1 and will be named in news media.

Jaycees Plan To Enter Float In Wolf City Fete

NEW LONDON — Plans for participating in Wolf City Festival activities July 19-20 were discussed Thursday by the Jaycees.

In addition to assisting with the various parts of the program in stands, selling tickets, and other work, the chapter will enter a float in the parade and participate in one of the organized activities.

Tom Bergman, Bob Freiburgher and Mike Barrington were named to a committee to plan the float.

Progress reports were given on the family picnic, Miss New London and membership. A program for coronation of Miss New London is under study by the committee.

Roger Pitt pointed out that Dr. F. J. Pfeiffer was a well-known dog lover and offered the suggestion that possibly a dog band.

Action Traced to Recent Outbreaks Of Hog Cholera

DES MOINES, IOWA (AP) — The assistant veterinarian in charge of the government's Animal Health Division in Iowa says Wisconsin will probably begin getting the bulk of Iowa's feeder pig business.

Dr. Carl V. Simmons made the forecast Friday night as the State Agriculture Department announced an embargo on imports on feeder pigs from 30 states.

Secretary of Agriculture L. B. Liddy and Dr. E. A. Butler, chief of the state's division of animal husbandry, said the imports were embargoed because of recent hog cholera outbreaks.

Cholera Outbreaks

The two said two Iowa outbreaks of cholera in May were traced to a shipment of pigs from Missouri. They said Missouri has had 36 herds affected by cholera this month.

"The embargo is kind of a harsh measure, but in this emergency situation it may prove to be a good move," Butler said. "We did it to protect our own swine."

Additional states to which the embargo applies include Oklahoma, which has had 16 cholera outbreaks this month, Butler said.

"There is no movement of pigs out of Oklahoma by their own action," he said.

States in the Midwest not affected by the ban are Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota, North Dakota and Michigan.

Manawa Man Forfeits Bond

NEW LONDON — Thomas F. Secard, 23, 439 Fourth St., Manawa, forfeited $28 in Municipal Justice Court last week on a city police charge of disorderly conduct with a vehicle.

Police said they stopped Secard on June 23 after they observed him squealing the tires of his car for about 100 feet on Mill Street.

New Chilton Group Jaycee Club Officially Installed at Dinner

CHILTON — Area Jaycees, their wives and guests attended the Jaycee Charter Dinner Saturday evening at the Eagles Club.

Norman Anderson, Whitewater, state director, was guest speaker, and installed officers of the newly formed Chilton club. Anderson told the group that singly they could not do much, but collectively they could accomplish "great things," and stressed the importance of creating a good image both as individuals and as a leading group in the community.

Edwin Lade, Manitowoc, presented President Don Baltz, with a Jaycee project plaque. Al Buboltz, representing the co-sponsor club in Brillion, was also presented with a gift. Ron Revoir, state director of Region 4 presented the new membership with pins, and administered the oath of office.

The new Chilton group was fostered through the belief of Dr. Hans Kalinka, DVM, that more could be done in the community to make it a better place to live. "At least we can give it a try," he said.

Other state officers present were from clubs in Sheboygan, Plymouth, Kiel, Valders, Brillion, Manitowoc.

Weather Will be Better Valley Escapes Fury Of Tornadic Storms

There should be peace in the Fox Valley at least for the next few days.

After a surge of rainstorms and winds which were most severe Thursday afternoon and evening, U.S. Weather Bureau officials at Green Bay this morning predicted only a slight chance of rain and light to moderate winds today and Tuesday. Cool temperatures, however, will continue.

The change will be a relief from an almost daily rain which has hit the Valley and most of Wisconsin throughout June. However, the approximately six inches that fell this month was far below the more than nine in June of 1968.

While southwestern parts of Wisconsin were hit particularly hard this weekend with tornado weather and heavy rain, the Fox Valley escaped with moderate winds and less than an inch of rainfall Friday through Sunday. Over 2 1/2 inches fell in the Fox Cities area Thursday.

A tornado watch was on Sunday night for the southern half of Wisconsin on a line from La Crosse through Oshkosh to Manitowoc, but it was lifted. At the same time, a severe thunderstorm watch was on for an area including the Fox Cities, but this was lifted about 7:40 p.m. Sunday, less than two hours after it was announced.

In the Fox Cities, about seven-tenths of an inch of rain fell Sunday evening in at least two separate heavy downpours which dampened the activities at the Little Chute picnic.

Little Damage

But Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. officials reported only light to moderate accompanying winds and apparently no serious damage or power outages. On Thursday, two area persons were hurt and two escaped from drowning, as pounding rains and winds caused considerable damage.

The skies were threatening all day Sunday after early morning showers and the temperature reached only 72. The low this morning was 62.

Sunday's weather ended hopes for a sunny weekend after no rain fell during a clear and comfortable Saturday. Wisconsin Michigan officials reported that 0.19 inch of rain fell Friday and winds gusted up to 41 miles per hour early in the afternoon.

Chilton Hit

The Chilton area was hit by Sunday evening rains totaling about 30 inch, bringing its June rainfall to more than 9 inches through the 29th. However, no high winds or damage was reported.

A spokesman at the Menasha Locks reported the Fox River, Lake Winnebago and Little Lake Butte des Morts were higher than they were at flood time this spring. He said the situation was serious and all river locks were open and cautioned boaters to be careful or stay off the river.

Southwestern Wisconsin was hit with ground-saturating rains Sunday night and funnel clouds were reported throughout the region from Lafayette County in the southwest to Juneau County north of Madison and Racine County in the east.

The flooding halted traffic on many highways in southwestern Wisconsin.

Family Rescued

The weather bureau reported over 6 inches of rain fell in Darlington in Lafayette in four hours and lesser amounts in surrounding areas. At Darlington, a family was rescued without injury from a car swept against a bridge railing by high water.

Officials reported that a State 23 bridge was badly damaged by the pressure of flowing water, halting traffic into Darlington.

Many buildings were damaged by reported twisters in the Darlington area and merchants began preparing for the high water Sunday night by moving merchandise to higher points.

Waterfilled streets in Milwaukee where nearly 2 inches of rain fell during Sunday night. Several short power failures were reported in the 15-county southeastern Wisconsin area.

North Central Airline flights out of Milwaukee's Mitchell Field were suspended because of knee-deep water on the taxiways.

Valley Escapes

While southwestern parts of Wisconsin were hit particularly hard this weekend with tornado weather and heavy rain, the Fox Valley escaped with moderate winds and less than an inch of rainfall Friday through Sunday. Over 2 1/2 inches fell in the Fox Cities area Thursday.

Women Inmates Getting Younger

MADISON (AP) — The average inmate at Wisconsin's only prison for women is getting younger.

Lewis McCauley, superintendent of the Taycheedah Home for Women near Fond du Lac, said Friday in his annual report the median age of inmates has been declining, and the prison's over-all population is decreasing.

The decreases, he said, are partly a product of U.S. Supreme Court rulings that gave juveniles the same rights as adult defendants.

Neenah Begins 2nd Life Saving Series

NEENAH — The second three-week series of junior and senior life saving classes will begin Tuesday at the Recreation Pool. Openings exist in the 9 and 10 a.m. classes.

Busch Hopes for Full Production by Middle of Week

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Anheuser-Busch, the nation's largest brewery, hopes to resume full beer production by mid-week with the end of a strike that shut down the brewer's seven plants for five weeks.

Approximately 10,000 employees, idled since May 27, went back to work this morning after settlement of walkouts at the Jacksonville, Fla., and Houston, Tex., breweries.

Teamsters locals, representing Anheuser-Busch brewers, signed one-year contracts at both plants over the weekend.

The Jacksonville brewery is the first of the new Ratification of its initial contract resolved the nationwide strike. Details of the settlement were not immediately available from company headquarters in St. Louis.

What Vacation Will Cost More Than It Used to

Prices Average $5 More Per Day for Couple Taking Trip

Fox Valley residents spending their summer vacations by taking automobile trips across the country will find that costs are up for just about all their travel expenses.

Food, gasoline, lodging for the night, tolls and sales taxes in many places will be found to be higher than in previous years.

Two years ago, according to a survey made then by the American Automobile Association, a day on the road cost about $36 per couple. Now, at today's prices, it takes nearly $41, it is estimated.

This assumes that they cover 100 miles a day and that they get 15 miles to the gallon of gas.

Trip Costs More

Thus, a two-week trip for a Fox Valley couple will cost approximately $574. And that is just for the necessities. It does not take care of any outlays for amusements, souvenirs or admissions to places of interest.

The facts and figures are based upon the latest reports from the Commerce Clearing House, the Bureau of Labor Statistics and others.

The $41-per-day budget breaks down to $15.50 for meals and snacks, or $2.50 more than in 1967, $13.00 for sleeping accommodations, $1 increase, $9 for gas and oil, also $1 more, and $3.50 for tips and miscellaneous, an increase of 50 cents.

Annual Expense

In addition to the cost of a vacation being higher, the annual expense involved in the ownership and operation of a car has mounted considerably.

For the typical driver of a standard-size car in the medium price range, driven 10,000 miles a year, it now comes to $1,550, it is estimated. The cost per mile, 15.5 cents, compares with the 13.6 cents that the AAA reported in 1967.

Most of it, $1,160, is for fixed costs, which have nothing to do with how much the car is used. This includes depreciation, insurance and license fees.

The variable costs, chiefly for gas and oil, total $390 for 10,000-mile usage.

Valley Area

Based on the 116,240 cars in the Calumet, Outagamie, Waupaca and Winnebago County area, local residents are spending some $180,173,000 on driving expenses.

Calumet County, with its 9,650 cars, spends $14,958,000, including $2,204,000 at service stations. Outagamie County boasts 43,560 cars, and spends $67,518,000 — $10,003,000 at service stations. Waupaca County has 15,220 automobiles, paying out a total of $23,591,000, of which $4,013,000 goes to service stations. Winnebago County has the most cars, with a total of 47,810, and spends $74,106,000, $13,507,000 of it for services.

The cheapest insurance against serious injury in a traffic crash is your safety belt.

When you need them there is no time to fasten them, so buckle them snugly around your hips every time you enter a car. You'll have a five times better chance for survival.

QUESTION: What is the basic rule for following a car?

ANSWER: For each 10 miles per hour of speed, stay at least 20 feet (a little over 1 car length) back of the car you follow. Some people express this rule in another way, and the following distances come out about the same: Multiply your speedometer reading by two, and stay that many feet behind the car you are following.

If you are in the habit of leaving the keys in your unlocked car when you park, consider this fact: 75 per cent of all stolen cars were left unlocked, times higher for stolen cars, and the accident rate is 200

Americans Are Not Shaken by Inflation Rate

Government Has Responsibility to Maintain Prosperity

AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The problem of American fiscal and monetary policy today is prosperity. After more than eight years of steady growth, Americans seem to be so imbued with success that they cannot believe more isn't ahead. And so, despite heavy taxes, reduced government spending and historically high interest rates, consumers continue to spend and businesses continue to borrow to build new plants to accommodate the big business they are sure is ahead.

To those who deal with this attitude—the Federal Reserve System and the Nixon administration—prosperity has become a malady.

The tacit acceptance of immediate and future prosperity emerges from surveys showing strong consumer buying intentions. And the bullish statements of corporate presidents suggest that nothing can shake their confidence.

Weapons Blunted
Because of the attitude, the weapons that once assured victory — reduced government spending, taxes and costly money—now seem blunted. No price seems too high a price to pay in order to participate in present and future prosperity.

Why should Americans be confident when, we are told, the present rate of inflation—close to 8 per cent—could turn the boom to a whimper?

The primary reason is this: confidence in the ability and need of the government to maintain prosperity no matter what is said about the dangers that threaten.

In the Employment Act of 1946, the U.S. government received a dictate from its people to maintain the economy at a rate of expansion sufficient to provide "full" employment.

Committed to Expansion
With government thus committed to expansion as a national goal—and ready to intercede and spend the economy back into expansion should it lag—many people now believe that the old cycle of expansion-recession has been broken.

No longer, in the minds of many, does the threat of severe recession loom over the economy. And without this threat, little seems to worry many businessmen and consumers, regardless of the warnings and all the blue talk.

That commitment to jobs, resulting from the 1946 act, actually is stronger today than perhaps was foreseen. Even without the act, social and political considerations ordain that today the government seek low unemployment.

In the past, full employment usually meant inflation. And apparently it still does today. Unemployment is relatively very low, only 3.5 per cent of the labor force. But inflation threatens to get out of hand.

Old Thesis Holds
The old thesis seems to hold true: The lower you push the unemployment rate the more costly and unproductive the labor force becomes and the more prone to inflation becomes the economy.

If the showdown resolved itself into one of continued inflation or few jobs, the Nixon administration will be faced with a dilemma. How, with summer coming, can the economy be slowed to the point that jobs are lost?

The first to go in a job cut-back are those men and women without skills. And among the least skilled are the deprived minorities who live in the explosive inner city areas.

To force these people to assume the burden of slowing the economy would lay too heavily upon the conscience and ambition of any official committed to improving social conditions and winning votes. That's the theory, anyway.

Unable to Act
Even the Federal Reserve system, which as the nation's central bank regulates the supply of money and credit, seems unable to act with the freedom it needs. It too must put a priority on jobs.

The responsibilities of the Federal Reserve System are many, but chief among them are price stability, maintenance of a balance in international payments, and full employment. But the economy is unstable and the payments situation in chronic disarray. Only the job rate seems in order.

Knowing all this, many Americans ignore the threats. They feel assured that the nation's leaders will do everything to avoid a sharp slowdown. They'll concede a mild one, perhaps, but they seem unafraid of recession and unemployment.

The weakness of the argument, however, is that not even the U.S. government can assure this prosperity.

Coalition Decides to Return to Chicago

New Democrats Plan Session On 'National Issues, Actions'

MADISON (AP) — The New Democratic Coalition, born in the turmoil of the 1968 Democratic National Convention, has decided to return to Chicago in November for "a national issues and actions conference."

The coalition's steering committee selected Chicago for its Nov. 22-23 session because "we want to symbolize our determination to make our democratic society work," Donald O. Peterson, a coalition national co-chairman, said.

The decision to hold the conference at the site of the party's 1968 convention was one of several adopted Sunday in Madison at the end of a weekend meeting of the coalition's 50-member steering committee.

Splinter Group
Peterson, of Eau Claire, said the meeting was attended by spokesmen from about half the 38 states in which the Democratic party splinter group has founded branches since the Chicago convention.

The committee, having voted earlier to oppose President Nixon's proposed limited deployment of an antiballistic missile system, called for campaign opposition next year against any congressman supporting the ABM plan.

It also said its campaign of opposition in the 1970 congressional races would be aimed at any candidate favoring an extension of the surtax.

Surcharge Repeal
A committee statement said the 10 per cent surcharge "should be repealed" because it has helped finance the Vietnam conflict while failing to accomplish its announced purpose of stemming inflation.

In other action, the committee agreed to continue its support of a boycott by labor groups against California table grapes, and to be represented July 12 at a convention of the National Democratic Party of Alabama.

The Alabama group is challenging that state's regular Democratic organization.

The Wisconsin branch of the coalition scored impressive gains this year at the state organization's convention in Stevens Point, successfully backing several resolutions including one that opposes the ABM program.

Sen. McCarthy
Peterson, chairman of the Wisconsin delegation to the Democratic National Convention last year, helped organize the coalition in Chicago after Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota lost the presidential nomination.

The coalition then moved its headquarters to Minneapolis, and has since gone to temporary offices in Washington, D.C.

Donald M. Green of Washington, a former assistant director of the McCarthy campaign, was authorized at Sunday's meeting to expand the coalition headquarters facilities in Washington.

"Most of us are called upon to do great things or big things," the cardinal said, speaking from a dock in the center of the main town landing. "If you want to be happy, do the little things in life in a big way."

Cushing spoke on the 30th anniversary of his consecration as a bishop.

Uncertain Budget Situation Spells Trouble for CCHE

Summer of 1969 May be One of Most Trying in Agency's History

MADISON (AP)—If the month of June has afforded the Coordinating Council for Higher Education with an accurate forecast, the summer of 1969 may be one of the most trying in the history of the recently overhauled supervisor of Wisconsin's public colleges.

The state's uncertain budget situation is no small irritant to the strain being put on the council by the approaching retirement of its executive director and by CCHE efforts to chart a 10-year future for state universities.

The summer weeks ahead seem an unfairly short period for the 17-member CCHE. Given added administrative responsibilities under a 1967 reorganization of state government, the council has to name a new chief administrator of its own by Sept. 1 while serving as custodian of a long-range outlook for Wisconsin higher education.

Channel Direction
Angus B. Rothwell's Sept. 1 retirement date was in the minds of members of a committee who interviewed one of the replacement candidates last Tuesday, and cropped up again Tuesday's discussion of a blueprint that could channel the direction of curriculum for more than 30 institutions and units of higher education for the next decade.

The immediate problem facing the CCHE, as it faces all state agencies, is what the Assembly will do with the $1.65 billion budget plan submitted last week by the Senate.

The 1967-69 budget is expiring today. It is unlikely the legislature will come up with a replacement budget for the 1969-71 biennium without more debate, and agencies were told Friday by state budget director Paul Brown to brace for a 7 per cent cutback in funds during the interim.

May Lose 2 Posts
Atop these financial annoyances, the CCHE could lose two professional positions from its staff under proposed fiscal restraints in 1969-71, and also faces restrictions on funds needed for supplies and advisory assistance. The CCHE 1967-69 budget was $1.26 million.

CCHE members are talking already of naming an acting director until the various administrative problems are ironed out.

The group's nominating committee is reported to have narrowed its studies to three candidates for Rothwell's post.

Two of them have been identified as Robert Haase, state insurance commissioner and former speaker of the Assembly, and Art Browne, associate director of the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

Haase is planning to resign as insurance commissioner and take a nine-month, $16,000 job as a teacher in the University of Wisconsin's School of Business.

Out-of-State
Of the two other candidates, both from out of state, one was interviewed Tuesday, and was reported to have told the committee he wants to study Wisconsin's legislature during the current budget talks before employment talks go any further.

Wayne McGown, secretary of the Department of Administration, and Donald Percy, University of Wisconsin associate vice president, had been among June's possibilities to follow Rothwell.

But McGown indicated he will not quit his job while Warren P. Knowles, who appointed him, is still governor.

Percy had to withdraw from consideration because of a legislative flap about an influential university spokesman being offered the top administrative assignment with the CCHE.

Should the council decide to weather the situation with an acting director, likely candidates include William White, who is Rothwell's chief assistant, and Gale Kelly, an associate CCHE director who, ironically, is the council's No. 1 budget man.

One man may play a key role this summer in deciding whether the CCHE needs an acting director or can name a new director by Sept. 1.

He is former governor Walter J. Kohler Jr., who would like to retire as chairman of the council, but who has indicated he would not want to step down until the task of replacing Rothwell has been completed.

The CCHE meets July 16 in Madison. One of the big issues on the agenda is the proposed 10-year formula for guiding curriculum at the University of Wisconsin and its divisions, and at the nine colleges in the state universities system.

The council's Plans and Policies Committee approved the program Wednesday, but not without the problem of Rothwell's retirement casting its shadow once again.

The blueprint would virtually restrict the state universities to being undergraduate teacher colleges for at least the next 10 years, while UW and its Milwaukee branch would be given the glamor of expanded doctorate programs.

Spokesmen Object
Spokesmen for the state universities system objected, saying their colleges should be allowed more freedom for development of master's degree courses.

Among the protesters was Roy Kopp of Platteville, a CCHE member and a council representative from the state universities system's Board of Regents.

Kopp mentioned the probability of the CCHE getting a new, long-term director by the end of the year, and said it might be unfair for him to be saddled with a 10-year program which he had not been given a chance to help outline.

Kopp called the program "a prediction—and that's what it is—for 10 years."

The proposal could also cancel any thought of graduate work at UW's new Green Bay and Parkside units.

best, so don't add any more "unexpected" emergencies in the way of repairs along the route than you can avoid.

No matter how nicely the car has been purred, it's an expensive expense to have your mechanic check it over. Around-town driving is one thing—mountain climbing or desert crossing is something else again.

Allow time for a thorough check-up just before you're ready to take off—especially if you're driving a car that's not as young as it might be. Tell your mechanic what kind of terrain you expect to encounter, and ask him for any tips he may have that will cut operation costs as well as care for the car.

Be sure to have all tires checked—little objects do get stuck in the treads, and you may not have noticed a cut or bulge that could give you trouble on a long run. Also, if you're loading the car down with a lot of heavy articles, ask if tire pressure should be increased. Under-inflated tires are comfortable riding around city streets, but on fast runs they are subject to excessive heat which is one way to invite tire trouble. And make sure the front wheels are checked for proper alignment. Tires wear unevenly when wheels are out of line, and your steering loses some of its precision.

Other "inexpensive expenses" which could make all the difference between a swell vacation and something you wouldn't want to remember: seat belts for everybody if you haven't already got them—for about a cost of $15 or a little more, maybe, for four belt installations; new windshield wiper blades if the ones you're using

If you don't have a rear-window wiper—and there ought to be a law against driving around without one—at least carry a little safety kit in the glove compartment: a spray bottle of glass-cleaner or just plain water, plus paper toweling or cloths. Any driver needs to

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK, Mont. (AP)—Three young men who spent the night trapped in a cave in Glacier National Park were rescued Sunday unharmed, Glacier authorities said.

They were able to see in all directions, and an off-side mirror isn't the complete answer. That can get splashed and muddy, too.

The three, Richard Millsap, 23, Ft. Worth, Tex., Gary Shaye, 22, Albany, N.Y., and Robert Graham, Lake MacDonald, had gone into the natural cavern about 5 p.m. Saturday.

Heavy rains in the area filled the cave entrance with water and mud later on in the evening, trapping the three.

Rescue operations began Sunday morning and the youths were rescued shortly before noon by a team which dug the dirt and mud away.
